

struggle goes on

I'm new to all this so not sure quite what to expect.

I'm married and have children. I have been struggling with inappropriate material on the internet since I was about 15. I've had weeks even months without having gone to the internet however I always end up back. My marriage is on the verge of breaking down because of it (as my wife has found out what I've been looking a few times over the course of a few years) and basically she has had enough. If I can't make a positive long lasting change then it's basically the end. I'm starting over again (I don't know how many times I've said that) and will hopefully be able to make a lasting change.

I went to group therapy about 4 years ago which was positive but I have not had any ongoing support/therapy.

I'm going to try and find time to work through the tools on this website and try and try to discuss some things with my wife and try to move on to build a better marriage and better life.

Welcome

Sorry to hear...

I'm sure you have a LOR. Try give Cordnoy or Dov a call, and there's others too on this site that can help you tremendously

Things can go in a positive direction, all it takes is small steps (Or big steps and your name is shlomo ;-)

I would echo what Mark said, try to get in touch with your LOR and some of the respected members of the site that can help.

Welcome

Sorry to hear about your troubles.

I came in to recovery because I couldn't handle the pain anymore.

Any therapist that I was working to fix my marriage didn't work.

So working on my marriage wasn't really the issue, it was saving my life from suicidal thoughts, the moment I jumped in recovery and started getting emotional sobriety, the miracles started happening, marriage etc.

I can encourage you enough to find the help you need- rabbi, therapist, 12 steps, this site, Cordnoy, Dov, Markz, and anything else you can do both for yourself and because letting your marriage go is something that almost everyone regrets horribly afterward, and usually ends up having to fix the problem to go ok with their lives anyway, so why not fix it now?
