

hello

Posted by czworking123 - 18 Dec 2016 12:08

this is really hard for me as i am usually a quieter person when i don't know the people i am talking to.

my story starts from way back before high school i somehow found my way to the internet and it just was down hill from there my father z"l found out but i just found ways to escape notice. Over the years it got worse and when i couldn't get to a computer i used a phone instead. I would sometimes get caught over the years but nothing helped me for long including talking to rebbim that i was and still am very close to. Now my wife is encouraging me to join gye so here we go hope i can finally become the yid i know i really am

=====

Re: hello

Posted by will Succeed Beh - 18 Dec 2016 14:11

Welcome to our amazing community

Keep up posting, and check out the Handbook, what you think will work for you.

=====

Re: hello

Posted by Shlomo24 - 18 Dec 2016 14:13

Welcome.

=====

Re: hello

Posted by Markz - 18 Dec 2016 16:00

"this is really hard for me as i am usually a quieter person when i don't know the people i am talking to."

So maybe it's time to get to know the people you're taking to

Maybe try Dovs Weekly call starting tomorrow?

=====

Re: hello

Posted by czworking123 - 18 Dec 2016 21:11

Thanks for posting. Right now i don't feel comfortable enough to make phone calls but thanks for the idea but definitely am going to try to get to know everyone

=====

Re: hello

Posted by cordnoy - 18 Dec 2016 22:40

Welcome,

?You can make a call and not say anythin'.

By the way, how did you build up the courage for the chat lines?

You don't have to answer that one; I know the answer.

Good move by your wife.

B'hatzlachah

=====
=====

Re: hello

Posted by czworking123 - 18 Dec 2016 22:55

Yes b"h i have a wonderful partner in life who has more strength than i realized i hope i will not disappoint her again

=====
=====

Re: hello

Posted by Singularity - 19 Dec 2016 08:53

May you be guided healthily. Don't depend on her. It's up to youuuuuu!!!

Welcome brother.

=====
=====

Re: hello

Posted by gibbor120 - 19 Dec 2016 22:16

Welcome! It takes courage to come here and open up. It may take you some time to warm up, but I think you will in time. Read the handbook. Keep posting. You are very lucky to have a wife that is encouraging you to get help. Commit to do whatever it takes.

=====
=====