

My Addiction

Posted by shmulke18 - 13 Feb 2017 20:05

I am 24 years old, the reason I came to Gaurd your eyes is because just looking for tips and tricks to the trade of how people get over there addictions and how to work on getting over mine, and trying to help others out as well,

Your job description that you gave may threaten your anonymity, since it doesn't sound like a very common occupation. You may want to edit out the description, and just leave a description of the problem.

Very Lonely, at times I am a mashgiach on a farm, out in the country, about 2 hours from where I live, I commute once a week usually back & fourth, at times I get very lonely and bored allot, not much to do at work everyday, I dont have any solutions wish I did, Just very frustrated at the moment, hope people understand what I mean, Thanks look foward to hearing what people have to say.

Shteebs, the guy didn't say if he works on a moo moo farm, or an oink oink farm in Jerusalem

Sorry brah. Hashem created the world thus that when you're all stressed and panicked at 7PM at night, I'm already asleep 6 hours later (in a galaxy) far, far away from you. Had I also been stressed and panicked? Did I act out? Only time will tell...

Reach out to us; don't expect us to reach out to you.

But you have my whatsapp now. So perchance the beep might wake me up. Give it a go. I'm propably awake with the kids anyway.

Giving away a combination of age, job description, job schedule, distance from home to job, are all hints to one's identity. Give enough hints, and someone is likely to figure it out.

Just saying.
