

my problem

Posted by clmoss09 - 25 Mar 2017 03:23

My story is when I have a build up of hormones and I want to relive my self (aka masterbate) I fall in the temptation of looking at porn. I am a strong christ follower but still fall down this path. Any suggestions?

Welcome.

This is a Forum mainly for Jewish people so myself and I guess others will not be referring to your religious beliefs because they are not all the same as our's.

But in wishing to keep personal holiness I commend you and I think a key thing is to realise the HALT method.

Hungry

Angry (resentful of something not going your way)

Lonely

Tired

These four circumstances can be triggers.

If you are single, then being in a loving relationship which becomes marriage is the appropriate path.

This will not cure things, but it is healthier than being single.

There are filters one can install for computers to avoid porn sights....others here can help with that.

Thanks for the reminder what personal holiness and knowing what HALT is. I know this i ran by a Jewish group but don't we follow the same Christ. As I was taught to love my brother as my self. Thanks again!

No we don't follow Christ.

Jews follow the Torah which says that we are all the son of G-d
