Introducing myself

hello,

I've been battling these behaviors looking at erotic images and pornography for twenty some years. As a result of this behavior, I've been separated from my wife 4 years, though we have a 2 children together so we keep in touch and I provide for them financially. I must admit, that if I had come in contact with the recovery community twenty years ago, perhaps I would still be enjoying a happy marriage. Right now my goal is to break free. I realize that I can't do this alone, so I look forward to receiving support and giving support to others.

Welcome. I am an addict and although my wife and friends never found about my acting out it is still really painful for myself. I live with so many regrets and the fragility that I might screw up again. Luckily I have found GYE and SAA and I am working with a sponsor on the 12 steps. I am sorry about your marriage. It takes hard work but I feel like now that I decided to dedicate my life to staying sober there is really hope for me and there is hope for you to.

Keep sharing!
