Please moderators, I do not know my way around the forum yet, I may be posting in the wrong section, forgive me.

observed that whenever I update my 60 day journey the battle will become very tough.

I had a not too challenging 30 days, after which I updated my profile to still clean..5 days later, I have fallen thrice, yesterday and today, heavily (making out with a girl).

The only solution in my head now is to run away from my house, because she is my neighbor and I like her.

I am also very downcast and hope to have the strength to pray today.

Please can someone talk to me? This feeling of being filthy and unworthy of anything is so strong.
