Here we go...

I am new here and have been looking around GYE for the last few days...

OMG!!! I feel like Harry Potter visiting Diagon alley for the first time...

The ppl here are so inspirational and so amazing!

Self-blame and a resulting negative self-image can cause us to feel that we can't succeed, but in truth, falls and tumbles are part of the upward climb. Acceptance of ourselves and just being happy for who we are, is a valuable pick-me-up.

Slowly but surely is the way to win the race.

BH I get a big Mazal Tov today on reaching 90 clean days!

?Incidentally, today is almost exactly a year (one day off) from the last time I reached this milestone.

Although this time around I think it is much more real, as I have learned a lot through the process and all the bumps in the road.

The steaks are marinating and I will IYH be having a gourmet dinner to celebrate!

Warning: Spoiler!

Please feel free to 'join' me and have a L'chaim for this occasion.
