Hey everyone,

It's been one year since our incredible General Grant joined GYE. A year full of chizuk and insight. It's hard to imagine GYE without Grant400. So please post your appreciation in this thread, and tell us about the chizuk you have received, etc.

When I began on October 14, Grant was the third person to greet me

(only preceded by Rebuild and Captain)..

Welcome home! Kick off your shoes and get comfy brother, because we are in this together for the long haul! Hatzlacha

He has been a fixture in my life (and conscience) ever since.

No words to thank you, big brother!

When I first joined GYE, I didn't know my way around the site so well or how to navigate the forum correctly.

Grant contacted me via PM, explained how things worked, and was the first taste I got of the personal relationships one can build here enroute to freedom.

Thank you so much!!

Happy Gardener Day to you.

Im sure you've heard of ground hog day.

So this thread is now "Grant Hug" day. But this is 365 days a year!

His story of Moe and Esther is really amazing how much it hits home in a brutal way chapter after chapter. After reading each chapter I'm usually shell shocked: wow! I can believe I was like Moe so many times or Esthers pain is so my wife's pain. Can't wait for the next chapter!

His posts and replies I find really insightful informative and well written.

Mazal Tov Mazal Tov

to my dear friend and mentor Grant400.

Where do I start, what do I say?

What I will say is this Grant400 has inspired many within his first year of joining. What could have taken others many years to accomplish Grant has done it in one year.

Every post, every chapter has brought many to do teshuva.

Personally, I have been in touch with Grant over the chats and emails. He has guided me and brought me to places where I could not have achieved on my own. During my Kidney donation he was there cheering me on. Always checking on me to make sure that I was okay. Any question I had and still have was not slighted by him. Nothing is too big or too small.

For me and for many of us here, Grant is a continues source of inspiration and guide to help us out of this mess.

Grant,

May you grow in every which way and keep inspiring us.

With much admiration and to write all these amazing things about you, I am humbled in your presents
