

Bi Bocher about to get married

Posted by Zag xx - 06 Jun 2023 17:15

Hi all I'm in my mid 20s and I'm getting married in 2 months. I was sexually abused when I was 13, and I've had plenty of trauma therapy in the past. I'm in a relatively healthy place right now, but I've had many years of struggles. I also know I'm more attracted to men than to women, and I'm really nervous about what to do in marriage. I'm in yeshiva and have an excellent support of rebbayim and friends. I'm also bh very gifted in learning and I absolutely love Torah. I've however over the years had a number of sexual encounters with friends, and I'm worried about what I should do if I ever find myself struggling in marriage. I want to make marriage work and I AM attracted to my kalla, but I know these feelings won't just go away. I'm currently speaking to people (rabbayim/therapist) pre marriage. I just need all the advice and disatisa dishmaya I can get. Thanks all

I wanna point out that the mechaber of this thread did not ask advice about tellin' his future wife or not; that was determined by his Rabbis and perhaps therapist (although I'm not sure I'm rememberin' that accurately). He asked about his future feelin's and how it may effect his marriage.

Personally, I would've liked if he asked about his wife's feelin's as well, and sadly, I didn't notice that in any of his posts, maybe one. I'm sure, however, that is on his mind as well.

Regardless, it does seem that he is comfortable with his decision of not disclosin' and he has some level of assurance that marriage may be ok for him.

Godspeed to all

Presumably his (future) wife's feelings is part of the considerations of his Rabbi/Rebbi/therapist/etc. when guiding him.

On this forum he is asking about his own feelings, hopes, fears etc.

Oh BTW Zag, Mazel Tov! May you be Zoche to a happy and fulfilling marriage.

P.S. been there, done that

If and when you guys manage to muster up some consideration for the women you're planning on marrying or are already married to, there are websites created by spouses of people who did not disclose fundamental parts about themselves. Maybe their stories can give you an insight into what it feels like to be lied by by someone who conceals important information about themselves before getting married.

what's the dessert gonna be?

Lose the holier than thou attitude buddy it looks very poor on you

Thanks I can live with that.

Thanks for the advice but I'm perfectly comfortable living with it here, even if it's an unpopular opinion or makes you uncomfortable.

lean times. Good for you

Thanks guys for the reminder who we all are.

Addict or not, we are not laid back lazy GFN's that don't have a clue how to find porn on a triple filtered device.

We don't have that chilled mentality!!

We get excited when we see a woman.

Some get excited when we see a man.

We get excited when someone gives opinions that don't jive with our hive.

It's part of our fabric.

It's healthy to debate. It even got an old member to post for the 1st time!

I only ask that it's done with a lower flame.

Keep the passion trucking!

And some of us know how to engage in healthy debate without getting rude or personal, others do not. Have a nice day everyone.

Now guy please don't argue with me and say he should go get some porn - THIS is not up for debate :-) adios

Thanks Cord'

I agree with you in concept.

There is one important point that must be made - many prominent rabbis are not really well versed with too much experience on such questions, and in reality this is a very serious situation which oftentimes directly affects the marriage!!

So I would hesitate to say we tell everyone to listen to the rabbi of their choice.

Btw some therapists also reside under a rock, so tread carefully there too.

Ask a rabbi / professional who is in the trenches on the topic.

I trust you have someone like this.

Whatever you do, don't take anonymous messages on the forum too seriously (with the exception of mine!!).

Speak to someone in the real!

Many capable Rabbonim I have come across in my own journey.

For me it was (is) like any Shaila I had (have). Many Rabbonim have areas they are known to be a "Mumche" in. One needs to find the right one.

This is a very sensitive [Contentious] topic - I also think that many people are getting very worked up here. I also know that there's many nuances to a human being.

Its Thursday night - Can someone please pass the Chulent and Diet Pepsi.

-May the force be with you-

Please do not post links on the forum, especially those that do not conform to the GYE platform.

Thank you

Originally I'd written Diet Coke.

But I remembered the Israeli version of Diet Pepsi was better.

My mind went back to those real Yeshiva Leil Shishi days/nights in Israel.

Chulent, Yerushalmi Kugel, the Pickel, and Diet Pepsi.

(Sometimes they had Cherry Coke Zero).

Now please pass the Petel and ?????.

i believe Pepsi is Badatz, so there's that too
