Hi! Welcome to the most amazing family you will ever find!

There are plenty people here that have fallen very deep, and have BH managed to kick all the unhealthy behaviors. Stick around, get to know the oilam, and you will learn that you can fly!

Here we care about you, we want to hear from you, we want to hear anything you would like to share. So please do!

There were people who posted about massage parlors, s phone lines and online video chats, relationships with girls, SSA, abuse, stalking, problems in their marriage relationship of all kinds and probably anything else you can think of. Many of them have broken free through GYE. Even if we haven't had the same challenges as you we understand them, can relate to them, can give you chizuk and some of us can probably give you advice. If you are interested, feel free to share whatever you are struggling with in general terms without going into the very fine details that can be triggering. We are here for you. Keep on posting and sharing and make friends. Keep trucking. We are rooting for you.

Dear friend- a suggestion- click on the link in Vehkam's signature above and read his thread. Read his entire story.

You will discover hope.
