Please don't share emails without discussing it with chaim@gaurdyoureyes.com because this can easily lead to trouble. SSA struggles are generally dealt with in a much safer way on the forum than in emails. It is true that SSA struggles are unique but there are many people on the forums who struggle with it and you can find all the help you need on GYE. There is no reason to go through private emails unless the people you are contacting are known to be safe. Chancyhk and Crabapple18 should be safe and you can reach them through PM.
