Hi.

Not sure how to start things off.

I've been around here.

Some of you might remember me.

I've spoken about my struggles with P & M....

...but haven't mentioned other struggles.

Certain urges and attractions that sometimes decide to stop in and say hi.

That I try to ignore, to push away to somewhere in my brain where I won't bump into it.

So I can try to tell myself that its not true.

Because it can't be.

For sure not.

I am not SSA.

Definitely not.

And anyways, even if I am, if I don't think about it and pretend I'm not, then I'm not, right?

Very often, SSA isnt a yes or no question.

But even if it was, you would not be SSA. You would be a holy Jew. Dealing with a tough challenge.

Many here, including me, have dealt with various levels of SSA and are here to tell the story.

Please do share your struggle with this wonderful forum, and bezH you will receive chizzuk and perspective.
