

Hello from Blind Beggar

Posted by Blind Beggar - 28 Aug 2010 21:19

Hello Tzaddikim! I just found this site last week. I think it is going to make my Rosh Hashono and Yom Kippur. I think the newness of the 90 day chart will get me 40 clean days to Shemini Atzeres but I am afraid of what will happen next. Does anyone have any suggestions?

I have read enough of the forum to see that you are all tzaddikim and all serving Hashem every day clean and again after every fall.

The holy Baal Shem Tov taught that the yetzer horo is more interested in the post-sin depression than in the sin itself.

Blind Beggar who wants to have eyes only for Hashem.

Taking a break from this forum - it gets too much sometimes. Real life out there beckons. Maybe he'll return someday, maybe not.

Today is 45 days which is halfway to the magic 90. It is also clean day 241 in total since joining GYE.

I led the SA meeting again today. We read a triggering piece of an SA book about being lusted after which I could not relate to and then a piece about being disconnected from other people which I very much identified with.

46 days clean, but one cannot get complacent. One day at a time because we don't know what each day is going to bring. I had a very stressful Shabbos and Sunday; yesterday and today were good, Boruch Hashem but tomorrow is a closed book so far.

Oh, stop counting, you fruitcake. He's obviously carrying you. What difference does it make to Him how many days He has been carrying you for? He won't get tired - ever! He loves you! It's easy for Him. Besides, He is here forever! It's not even a blip for Him and 45 days is just as much as the next 27, 000 days to Him.

You are doing fine today and that's incredible enough.

Love you, brother.

Yoseleh hatzadik'l,

Are you trying to point out my mental illness, consistency, or consistent mental illness?

Impressive. Even Yossella cannot find inconsistency.
