

Hello from Blind Beggar

Posted by Blind Beggar - 28 Aug 2010 21:19

Hello Tzaddikim! I just found this site last week. I think it is going to make my Rosh Hashono and Yom Kippur. I think the newness of the 90 day chart will get me 40 clean days to Shemini Atzeres but I am afraid of what will happen next. Does anyone have any suggestions?

I have read enough of the forum to see that you are all tzaddikim and all serving Hashem every day clean and again after every fall.

The holy Baal Shem Tov taught that the yetzer horo is more interested in the post-sin depression than in the sin itself.

Blind Beggar who wants to have eyes only for Hashem.

Hi BB and thank you for this thread.

May HaShem give us another day of recovery.

I could not have become sober without going to SA and I would not have gone to SA if it wasn't for you Chesky.

And I would not have gone to SA without Zemmy, so thank him.

On second thoughts (or first) let's all thank HaShem.

Who would have believed three years ago that we would be talking like this?

But i just want to remind myself that i am (still) an addict and without help from HaShem I have NO chance of staying sober today.

And even with SA I would not be sober today without Dov.

And I probably wouldn't have gone to SA if it wasn't for you, BB.

I think you meant the heiliger G-d
And I love you too, a lot.

You know, a few years back (but after I started sobriety) I used to kiss my kids and tell them, "I love you so much!...but not as much as Hashem does."

I stopped doing that because I was not sure how they were really taking the message...it might have been creepy or meant to them that I saw a limit to my love, or something like that. Anyhow, the message is still the truth and I can at least say that to you and all the guys here including

Today is one thousand days, which are one hundred and forty two weeks and six days of being sober.

Thank you, Hashem!

Thank you Guard, Dov, Kedusha, 1daat, Chesky, Elyah, and everyone else who was an indispensable help.
