

Are You Happy To Be Here? (formerly Wooooaaaaa HUGE DISCOVERY!!!!)

The purpose of this poll is to try to prove that people don't have charata that they signed up.

To me it seems that the guests who don't sign up, are simply afraid they might regret it. Maybe they are afraid of being discovered.

Perhaps the results of the poll will encourage them. They can't see the results or vote, but we can at least keep them informed.

My wife actually found out about my porn habits from this site and I do not regret signing up for a minute. If any guests are reading this thread and have some hesitations just do it. It is either signing up here or going to get your next porn hit.

Hatzlacha to you all

Shteeble -

I got to say it is either depressing or exhiorating that noone is signing up. It is not like there is any competition to GYE out there. Where else is their a public forum for people to discuss these issues.

It must be that

a) People just don't have the problems that so many of us have. It is a select few of us that are even tempted by porn online. From the amount of subscribers on GYE I would say that about

.02 percent of frum people are even addicted.

b) I do not need to say what this option is..

It's funny you say that because...

Before I heard of GYE I thought that I was the only one with the struggle.

Then when I found GYE and continued my struggle, I was certain that everybody else was secretly struggling too.

Now that I've recovered, I feel that for the most part people are okay, and the number of people who struggle are a large minority.

I think you are wrong.

Among the non jewish population with internet access the amount of men regular visiting porn sites is over 70%. You also need to account that part of the 30% that do not suffer have sexual difficulties and have no desire.

Among from yidden with private internet access I believe it is a majority. While it may be a large minority of Jews, those with unfiltered private access suffer from a much larger percentage.

Maybe.

I've been wrong before.
