

Introduce Yourself

Posted by Stayingfocused - 14 Jan 2011 04:07

Hey everyone! I've been meaning to do this for the longest time but I pushed it off till now probably cuz I was lacking the strength and courage for it. Well a bunch of recent events have made me realize that I have to get my act together and finally tell my tale and get on this forum! My story sounds like so many others on this site, but I feel that its good for myself to just spit it out, and mayb it'll help soomeone else too. I'm a 23 year old guy single guy who grew up in a normal, loving, frum family. I went to great yeshivos and still continue to learn full time in yeshiva. I was always a really good kid,a real goody goody, and first got into porn when I was in 8th grade, probably out of sheer curiosity. This was really shortlived though, being that I got caught by my rebbi soon after I found these websites. As I said I was a good kid, and getting caught got me scared and kept me off it for many years, till after high school. In terms of masturbating I had never even heard of it till 12th grade, and even then I didn't play around with it just cuz it didn't interest me. I went to israel for a few years and somehow there I picked up masturbating, although it was a rare occurence and wud definitely not b called an addiction. Wen I came bak from israel, I was learnin in yeshiva for a few months, but I had to come bak home for a few months to study for graduate school. And this is where my problems began...Although I was learning in yeshiva at the time, I was still home for many hours of the day and being home and bored is never a good combo. In the beginning I wud just play around on the computer, but eventual 1 thing led to the next and I wud find myself on porn sites and finishing each session with masturbating and then having that really guilty feeling and then swearing off it forever. But as everyone here knows it was only a matter of time till I was bak on those same sites. I fell for the y"h tricks every time, always convincing myself that this time it wud b different, but to no avail. And then, somehow by the mercy of Hashem I came across this site. It was a real eye-opener to see how widespread this addiction was, and also how severe it was. The countless stories of how low ppl fell really shook my core. I signed up for the chizuk emails and they really helped me out. At the time I thought that I wasn't really addicted and a simple reminder every day wud b enough for me to get over this thing. It seems laughable now how ridiculous I was, but once again the y"h was playing his tricks on me. Eventually I got bak into my habits, and it actually got worse cuz I had a full access phone wit internet, and I used that in bed before I went to sleep. This continued wen I was able to go bak to yeshiva, although it wasn't a nightly occurence being that the guilt kept me off for periods of time. Eventually after falling enough, I decided to finally sign up for a 90 day chart, thinking that seeing myself on a chart wud do the trick. For a while it did help, but without any change in myself nothin was gonna help and eventually I fell again and many times after that. This trend continued for a while, until a few months ago a few pretty bad things happened to me a few days in a row. Had they happened a few weeks apart it wudnt have been so bad, but just so many things happening like that rite after each other was crazy!! I took it as a sign from Hashem that he was really upset at me and he was makin me feel pain in other areas to make me wake up and finally change (a theme I had heard in a few chizuk emails shortly before all this stuff happened). That nite I sat down and wrote myself a letter with a few kabbalos and I decided to read it every nite before bed to remind myself of wat I had to do. B"h I can say that wit Hashems help since that nite I have been clean of porn and masturbation, a period of 94 days!! But unfortunately my story has a bit of a nasty twist and this is kinda wat made me realize that I have to get on this forum. In middle of this recent clean period I started dating a girl. We went on a bunch of dates, and as it moved along I realized that I had to tell her about my past cuz it just wudnt b fair to keep somethin soo big from her. I had never told any1 about my addiction, not my parents nor my rebbi hu I'm really close wit, I was just too embarrassed! And I knew this wudnt b an easy thing to do either just cuz I didn't know wat her reaction wud b, and I could never find the courage to bring it up. I constantly played over scenarios in my head of how I shud do it, but I just cud never get around to it. With the help of Hashem somehow we got into a whole conversation about how I say the first 4 perakim of tehilim before bed to help for zera levatala which led into a convo about masturbation and porn. I told her how widespread it is...and I guess from seeing how much I knew about the topic she asked me the million dollar question, am I involved wit these things? I took a deep breath and basically spit it all out, knowing full and well wat the reprecussions cud b. But b"h she took it so well, she was so undertsanding and impressed that I was on this site and takin steps towards recovery, knowing full well that she cudnt understand the nisayon but shed b behind me in my recovery. I felt like I had taken the biggest weight off my chest, wat a relief!! Telling her was probably the best thing I cudve done for my relationship, and honestly for me it really propelled things so much further. I know knew that no matter wat I cud tell her anything and wed b able to get thru it. And she was equally thankfull about how honest I was with her. As we went out more and more, naturally our reltionship got more serious and our feelings for each other had reached a climax. We went on a few dates where we wanted soo badly to just touch each other, and we actually had come pretty close, but we both knew that we just cudnt do that!! Our next few dates tho is where the trouble began...it all started wit sitting next to each other by a ball game, where the seats we sat in basically had us sitting up against each other. To make a long story short, at first we just decided to not touch skin on skin, but eventually everything went down the tubes [triggering details removed by moderator] We decided that we can't b like this and we had to get bak to our normal relationship, and everything seemed to b ok. So much so that our parents had actually met that day and we had a set up a date for our vort. But the next few days were basically a living hell for me. Basically she felt so guilty about wat happened that she cudnt even look at me, wat we had done had torn a a huge hole in our relationship. Its not like I didn't feel bad about wat happened, cuz I did!! But being on this site has helped me to deal wit falls, even ones as big as the ones I had just gone thru, and I knew the only way to get out of it was to learn from it and try to move on. I admitted to my parents and rebbi wat happened, altho I was so emb bout the whole thing all I cud say was that 1 nite we weren't shomer and just hugged a bit, which even that was hard to say. When I told them wat happened, I cudnt get the words out I was crying soo hard. But they helped me settle down a lot and were very understanding of the whole situation. She also told her parents and it helped her, but our relationship was kinda on the rocks. We basically took a break for 2 days and tried to get things bak to where they were. We went on a normal date again, and b"h things were moving in the rite direction, but still very far from where we were. My rebbi gave us gedarim in terms of speaking for the last week and a half and b"h it really has helped us tremendously. Also I got her involved wit gye, and she posted this whole story on the womens forum and says she's getting such amazing chizuk from every1, which is also helping us out like crazy. Today I am actually goin to b seeing her for the first time in almost 2 weeks and I hope that it will all go smoothly, cuz I really love her and I want so badly for our realtionship to work cuz I really think that this is my basheret and the girl that will help me grow in all areas of my life!! Wow that was a real mouthful but glad I finally got it out, wow am I happy to finlly join this family in person!!

=====
=====

Re: Introduce Yourself

Posted by Jooboy - 28 Feb 2011 13:40

I hope all goes well for you but a look from an outside observer says that your pushing this forward may be setting yourself up for a whole lot of pain. If it is meant to be it will be and nothing you do can stop it. If it is not meant to be nothing you do will make it happen. I really don't mean to rain on your parade but it kinda looks like watching a kid run into traffic and you want to reach out your hand, grab him by the collar yank him back to safety and save his sorry ***.

I hope I'm totally wrong and you live happily ever after.

=====

=====

Re: Introduce Yourself

Posted by Me3 - 28 Feb 2011 15:24

Jooboy do you have connections that we don't have? I think we already know that this will either work or not (lot's of things in life have 2 possible outcomes). And to say he will be in a lot of pain if it doesn't work out, what do you think he was doing before? Or have you been reading his posts?

I wish him happiness in life, and I reiterate that the most important thing for him to be doing now is learning.

=====

=====

If I'm not then your always welcome back here anyway

Re: Introduce Yourself

Posted by hopeful - 28 Feb 2011 20:12

Staying Focused,

I hope you are not setting yourself up for a disaster. I am not sure i grasp the whole situation but it does not sound promising. I am so sorry! You sound crushed and you are not facing reality.

=====

=====

Re: Introduce Yourself

Posted by Stayingfocused - 04 Mar 2011 00:29

Hopeful,

Honestly I have no clue what I'm doing!! The past week we've been texting each other constantly throughout the day, and its seriously been wonderful. I just love talking to her all the time, and I feel like I never want it to stop. I've stayed up till the wee hours of the morning (usually after 4) this whole week talking to her; I just can't get enough of her. Unfortunately this hasn't helped her come to a decision that I want and honestly as every1 is saying for now I'm prob setting myself up for a big disaster :-(My parents asked me if I'm ready to move on and start dating other girls (they have no clue we've still b talkin, if they did I prob wudnt b here anymore), and it basically turned into a bit of a yelling match. I told them there is no way I am ready to move on, I can't possibly get her out of my head. Deep down I have this crazy feeling that its gonna work, and it won't leave. My parents asked me y on earth am I chasing after som1 hu doesn't wanna marry me!! I'm making myself crazy for some1 that clearly doesn't have strong ENOUGH feelings for me, and y wud I want that?! I need to find some1 hu is gonna b making themselves crazy and goin to all ends of the world just to marry me!!! Honeslty I know this makes sense to a degree, but I do know that she has very strong feelings for me. She has been making herself crazy to make it work, she's been seeing a therapist, and emailing rabbi twerski and hopefully getting in contact wit another rav hus a big expert in these ares. I really can't explain y she can't do it, and wats crazy is that she can't pin it on something either. She says the doubts only came after our fall, and if that's the case it shud b directly related to an effect of our fall. I can't think of a single thing that's reason enough based on our fall to not go ahead wit this! And even wen we spoke to a big rav at that time a month and a half ago, he said that if everything we liked about each other is still there, then despite our fall there's no reason based on his experiences that it shudnt work! I really think I'm deluding myself into thinking its gonna work just cuz I want it so badly, and it makes no sense y it shudnt work. This is obv not a reason, but it still makes it extremely difficult nonetheless to move on. I keep trying to tell myself that this is not meant to b rite now, but it just makes me so depressed; I want her sooo badly. Last nite wen we were texting we actually got into a convo that wasn't exatly kosher. We were basically reliving our experiences of our fall. I know it was very wrong, and I feel guilty that we did it and I'm not even sure y i let it happen esp after knowing we need to b very careful, but it just made me want to b wit her soo badly!! I don't mean strictly in a physical sense, I just miss her so much and wanna spend time wit her again where nothin else mattered but us! I know I'm prob fooling myself, but it happens to b that well b at the same wedding next week. Its gonna b the first time ill c her in like a month and I'm beyond excited. I just wanna hang out wit her and just catch up in easc others company, it just makes me soo happy to b wit her. Idk this is crazy I'm being retarded here and I know that I need to come to the realization that this over, but its not working yer, and I know its cuz I'm doin things that aren't letting that happen. But that's the thing, I just don't want to let go, being wit her is the best thing in the world!!

=====

=====

Re: Introduce Yourself

Posted by Jooboy - 04 Mar 2011 03:17

Idk this is crazy

I second that. (Sorry I don't know how to say that in the modern texting language you obviously
)

Your story reminds me of a period of time when I dated a girl while I was far away from home somewhere for a three week visit. I dated this girl almost every day for the last 4 or 5 days I was there. After that we kept up by phone for a number of weeks sometimes talking for 10 or 12 hours a day!! Now that I remember and write it, it seems almost impossible to believe. There are many differences between the my situation and your current one but there is also some parallel. OBSESSION. Other than obsession with GOD that comes from true ahavas Hashem, it is probably NEVER a healthy thing. I would go so far as to say that obsession could itself destroy any chances of a healthy relationship that could otherwise work.

I'm not writing here to rip on you but you seem to be posting to get some feedback and you also seem to realize that this is not healthy. YOUR RIGHT!!!!

It was only after my obsessive long distance relationship ended that I was able to see how sick it was and how unhealthy a route it was taking.
prefer

Do yourself a favor and quit the crazies before you get really stuck.

Loving you my fellow jew boy - pray to GOD for good counsel and serenity to make good decisions for yourself.

=====

=====

Re: Introduce Yourself

Posted by Stayingfocused - 04 Mar 2011 05:30

Jooboy,

Sorry bout the lingo, I like posting from my phone (I like to stay off the computer as much as possible) so the txtng lang is the most natural lol. But anyways, idk wat ur situation was like and if it compares, but ill fill u in wit a bit of mine. My girlfriend and I r also from 2 different cities, and it always allowed for an in btwn period that was too long for us not to communicate. It obv started gradually, where in the beginning we wud b shocked that we were on the phone for an hour, which then felt like an eternity. But as things got more serious and we became closer we started talking a lot more often and longer. It came to a point where my sched was go to yeshiva for first seder, come home and speak till second seder, speak after second seder till nite seder, and then wed speak on the phone for another 3 hours easy. And here's the kicker this happened every single day for many weeks!! My parents thought I was crazy, and that was witout even knowing the extent of how long we were actually speaking a day. They cudnt understand how we cud b on the phone for soo long everyday and still have things to talk about. To me it seemed that every1 prob wit how much we were talking was that wed lose our excitement and it wud just become a bore. But this was sooo far from the case. We both felt crazy excited to spk to each other wenever we had a chance. A text from here wud bring a smile to my face. At that point I wud say we def were obsessed wit each other, and that was the point that we were ready to get engaged and set up a date for out vort, and u know wat I dont think it was bad to b obbsessed like that. But then unfortunately we took that excitement and extended it into areas which weren't allowed and it sapped the life out of our relationship :-(since that time we've been working really hard to get it bak, and I really feel that to an extent a lot of those feelings r bak and I've been ready waiting for her to just say yes. For wtvr reason we cudnt date any longer, and she had to make a decision 1 way or another if this is wat she wanted or not. At this point her answer is no, albeit a no that has very little confidence to it. And that's y she's been working by speaking to therapist and rabbeim to help her sort things out cuz she does want it to work but she's missing something, and no1 knows wat that is! But her saying no didn't take away any of my feelings for her, and I still feel about her as I did before our fall. Just like then I was always excited to hear from her, call it an obsession if u want, so too now I still feel that way! I have invested sooo much of myself into her, and cuz of that my feelings for her r even stronger than they were before. Its like rav dessler says about the word ahava coming from hav-to give- the more u give to some1 the more u naturally love them. So call it wtvr u want, and I know that I'm being crazy running after something that rite now doesn't seem to fully want me, but I can't will myself to care. Its almost as if I don't want help and I just wanna stay connected to her at all costs; I feel like I can just put the whole world on hold, but I know that's not exactly facing reality. Its just soo hard to let go of some1 u feel soo deeply about :-(

Re: Introduce Yourself

Posted by Me3 - 04 Mar 2011 18:54

1. Obsessed doesn't mean love.

2. Nice quote of R' Dessler, what have you "given" her that you think you qualify for love?

That you spoke with her for countless hours? That you invested time? That was all for you. Yes for you! Love at first sight doesn't exist. Attraction at first sight does.

So calm down, get a hold of yourself. Exhibit a little self control. Give the poor girl a chance to make a rational decision. Don't talk to her every minute of the day. And try to start learning a little bit so maybe you'll at least have G-d on your side?

=====
=====

Re: Introduce Yourself

Posted by hopeful - 04 Mar 2011 18:56

Staying Focused,

Again I don't know your background so it is hard to say, but in most circles when a shidduch couple breaks up, they don't contact each other any more. Do you wish to stay just friends? Or you are hoping it will go back to a couple again? I really don't think non kosher conversations will help AT ALL! If your set back was caused because of your fall together, continuing to have not appropriate conversation will most probably set her back again. Did you two make up what will be at the wedding- will you speak, or avoid each other? I wish you all the comfort in the world in this tough situation, may Hashem comfort you. How are you doing with your lust? Did the non kosher conversation c'v cause any downfalls? We are all rooting for you. Have a good shabos.

=====
=====

Re: Introduce Yourself

Posted by Kedusha - 04 Mar 2011 19:29

hopeful wrote on 04 Mar 2011 18:56:

Do you wish to stay just friends?

If there's ever such a thing as a completely platonic friendship between a man and a woman (I don't believe there is), it would not be possible in this case (or any situation where they were emotionally invested with one another).

=====
=====

Re: Introduce Yourself

Posted by Kedusha - 04 Mar 2011 19:56

SF,

I'm sorry to say that I don't think you're staying focused anymore. You could have had a week or two of healing behind you, but, instead, you're still trying to hold on.

Rav Yisroel Reisman tells a Mashal where someone is visiting an insane asylum and hears someone saying "Sarah . . . oh Sarah . . ." again and again. He asks one of the nurses what is going on. She responded, "He once wanted to marry a woman named 'Sarah,' but she turned him down, and he's been like this ever since."

The visitor walks to the other end of the hall, and hears someone else saying "Sarah . . . oh Sarah . . ." again and again. "Who's that?" the visitor asks. The nurse replies "That's the man who ended up marrying Sarah!"

Pushing too hard is never a good idea, and it will just push her away further, or, c"v, cause you to wind up like one of those two fellows. For your own sake, don't do it any more.

And, please, do yourself a favor: if you really care about this girl, and are not motivated by self interest, wish her well and move on.

=====

Re: Introduce Yourself

Posted by Kedusha - 04 Mar 2011 22:03

Have you read The Magic Touch by Gila Manolson? I think it contains the answer as to why things started going downhill just when they did.

Hatzlacha! May HKB"H answer all your Tefilos for the good!

=====

Re: Introduce Yourself

Posted by ben durdayah - 05 Mar 2011 22:17

I don't mean to sound Chassidish or anything, but I would humbly suggest that you take a headfirst dive into an ice cold Mikvah...

Your past and present emotional entanglement with this girl is not helping your seichel stay in the driver's seat.

Even if Hashem's ultimate plan is to see you two meet under a chuppah somewhere -the kind of obsessive behavior which you are describing sounds unhealthy (that's being generous).

You have to reign in your emotions and take cold calculating stock of your situation...

Whether it's all over, or this is just a time-out -you have to start living in the present, and not wallow in the past.

Sorry for being abrupt, and wishing you Hatzlachah in all of your endeavors,

Your chaver,

E. ben Durdayah

=====

Re: Introduce Yourself

Posted by hopeful - 06 Mar 2011 20:24

Staying Focused,

I think kedusha is right. He suggested distancing your self. It is a win- win situation.

a- either the distance will bring her the realization that she made a mistake and you will get back together b- or the distance will help both of you move on and find your true zivugim.

Either way you can not hold on forever because you are trying to bring this back by holding and it is not working, Let go, although its hard to move on go through the motions and eventually you will realize that you haven't thought about her for a day or two. It will get better. Try to jump into the dating game again even though its hard to maybe that will help you begin to move on. You will never forget about her but you can try to leave it with just nice memories instead of longing to be with her.

Listen to your name- STAY FOCUSED on your goal- to be an eved Hashem! Learn with enthusiasm.

Good luck and let us know how you are doing!

=====

=====

Re: Introduce Yourself

Posted by Stayingfocused - 11 Mar 2011 16:31

Sorry I haven't responded in a while, ill try to explain. As eveyr1 knows I have been in contact wit her via texting for the past while. I knew it was wrong and it wasn't letting me move on, but deep down I didn't want to move on cuz wit her everything was just perfect. Now even tho we were talking we happened to have made up that were not gonna speak for a few days to try to help us start the process of moving on. The details don't matter, but basically last motzei shabbos we ended up texting thru the whole nite. During this time at like 430 am my dad came into my room and saw me texting. The next morning he confronted me bout it and I told him that we were still n contact. He was extremely upset to say the least, especially cuz I had agreed that wtvr her decision was 2 weeks ago I wud accept, and now I was goin behing his bak and betraying his trust. Ouch!! I kept telling him that I wasn't ready to move on wit my life, and I guess now he knew part of the reason. I felt pretty low that day and I was gonna post, but I felt terrible that she wud have to find this out thru my forum and not directly from me. And I didn't wanna tell her then either cuz she told me that she had a fall and I really didn't want to make her more depressed and lead her into another fall c"v. I was gonna tell her the next nite, but she seemed to b having a good time wit her friends and I didn't wanna ruin it wit my news that I got caught and now we have to completely end this:-) The next morn tho I put an email tog and sent it to her. She sent 1 bak, and it was kinda a goodbye email. She happened to b comin to my city this week and I told her that I'd like to say goodbye in person. We've been thru a hell of a lot tog and I feel we owe it to each other to say goodbye in person, and not thru email text or even on the phone. I plan on doing this on monday, and I'm kinda dreading it. I am slowly coming to the realization that this has to b and is over and we have no choice but to move on. I know every1 has been saying that its the best thing for the both of us, but I'm not gonna lie accepting this fact is THE hardest nisayon I have ever been faced wit. Marrying her wudve made my life perfect in terms of finding an amazing girl to help me grow in every area and starting a family in the proper path, and it wud help me tremendously in the next part of my life. Coming to terms wit this reality, I have now realized that my life has become extremey complicated and decisions that I thought were clear cut r now the furthest thing from it. I'm not gonna go into details at the moment, I plan to talk to my rebbi soon and discuss it wit him and ill keep every1 posted. Its funny how u never think u will b the 1 that has such a complicated life. U always think these things only happen to other ppl, but I guess its time to wake up. I'm getting a pretty rough welcome to life, and I'm gonna have to stay prety close to my father in heaven, cuz somehow this is wat I need to do and it is for my best, even tho at the moment it feels like the furthest thing from making sense!! Thanx for listening, looking forward to the responses.

=====

=====