

Need an accountability partner

Hi, I'm 22 years old living in the US. I've been pretty decent since the beginning of the fall with a 45 day streak being my longest. However the past few weeks I fell numerous times. Tonight I went on video chat and fell, which I haven't done in a while. I really feel like I need an accountability partner. I know that there is an email address, but I tried it twice and the other person didn't respond both times. I just want to update someone everyday, to hold me accountable. If you can help that would be awesome.

Thanks.
