

Perspective

Posted by YMG - 08 Aug 2011 17:18

Imagine if you'd go out and buy your wife a really fancy and expensive piece of jewelry whenever she feels frustrated.

True, dumping loads and loads of gifts on her would put a smile on her face.

Till it wears off and even stops helping.

But by then you're already a broke man with an upset wife.

We've got to stop buying our wives a house, a car, and a boat every time they feel needy!

=====
=====

Re: Perspective

Posted by YMG - 08 Aug 2011 17:20

If a person accidentally cuts himself with a knife, he feels "hurt".

He doesn't feel "band-aids!".

=====
=====

Re: Perspective

Posted by YMG - 12 Aug 2011 06:50

You did nothing wrong if you got hungry for steak while standing nearby your neighbor's smoking BBQ grill.

But to nab that piece of meat right off his grill, it's just not yours to benefit from!

=====
=====

Re: Perspective

Posted by mechazek - 12 Aug 2011 06:55

nachon

=====
=====

Re: Perspective

Posted by YMG - 12 Aug 2011 07:17

Moshiach's coming any moment!

You can tip the scales and make it happen!

Be ready.

=====
=====

Re: Perspective

Posted by Yossi.L. - 28 Aug 2011 08:44

Honestly, I had no idea what you were talking about when I read it. When I finally figured out what your analogy was I smiled. You're the modern day Dubna Maggid of addiction analogies!

=====
=====

====

Re: Perspective

Posted by zev_17_years - 29 Aug 2011 02:27

The GYE Maggid!! Yasher Koach!

=====
====

Re: Perspective

Posted by YMG - 29 Aug 2011 20:03

=====
====

Thank you again!