Humans like to follow the crowd so if we have someone to model (the more the better) it makes it easier to execute. We can also modify what others are doing base on where we're holding. I encourage brevity in order to avoid analysis of paralysis. Just to break the ice, I will share some of the crazy things I do so it doesn't feel so crazy if it is something you want to do.

I welcome your feedback on how to ask the question to get replies. Thank you
