

How do I put time restrictions on a PC?

Posted by yitz23 - 22 May 2023 01:26

My computer is BH very filtered, the thing is if I'm on really late at night I'm probably gonna start trying to get things through the filter.

Is there a way to turn off my computer or disable internet connection at a set time?

=====

=====

Re: How do I put time restrictions on a PC?

Posted by doingtshuva - 22 May 2023 04:44

Great idea.

In the past, I would manage to bypass the filter + the times restriction.

I think that it can help me too now days as I am also willing to go to sleep early.

=====

=====

Re: How do I put time restrictions on a PC?

Posted by Am Haoretz - 28 May 2023 19:28

1) Which filter do you have on already? Some come with time restricters.

2) There's also an option to have someone else create an admin account, turn yours into a regular one, and set time limits using the 'net user's cmd.

3) if you're signed in with a Microsoft account there's also parental time controls.

=====

=====

Re: How do I put time restrictions on a PC?

Posted by yitz23 - 30 May 2023 17:44

Thank you so much AH

Can you explain how to do the net user cmd?

I have techloq i do not believe they have time restrictions

=====
=====

Re: How do I put time restrictions on a PC?

Posted by m111 - 30 May 2023 18:47

I have Techloqand they have a "schedule" which is time restrictions, It can be bypassed only with their authentication code. I know half of it and my wife knows the other half, and this time restriction saved me countless times.

=====
=====

Re: How do I put time restrictions on a PC?

Posted by Am Haoretz - 30 May 2023 20:22

<https://www.makeuseof.com/tag/how-to-set-time-limits-for-user-accounts-in-windows/>here's a link that explains the time part of net user

=====
=====