

Yes means "no" and no means "yes!"

Posted by Kedusha - 11 Jan 2010 23:28

---

There's an old trick (please use caution in telling this to any kids, because it may spread to someone who will use it to bully others): You say to someone "Yes means no, and no means yes! Do you want a smack in the face?" He loses either way. If he says "no," well that means "yes," and he gets a smack! If he says "yes," you say "Oh, you want a smack?" And you give it to him!

I suggest that we play a variation of the same game with the y"h: "Small Taiva = Big Taiva, and Big Taiva = Small Taiva." Here's how it works: If, c"v, we're faced with a big Taiva, we say "Sorry, y"h, don't you remember the rules? I never act on big Taivos, at least not TODAY." "Fine," thinks the menuval, "I'll give him a small Taiva." When that happens, you respond,

Then, you put your car into high gear, and run the menuval over! Then back up, and let your rear tires roll over him again for good measure!

=====
=====

Re: Yes means "no" and no means "yes!"

Posted by Kollel Guy - 12 Jan 2010 04:29

---

There's an old trick (please use caution in telling this to any kids, because it may spread to someone who will use it to bully others): You say to someone "Yes means no, and no means yes! Do you want a smack in the face?" He loses either way. If he says "no," well that means "yes," and he gets a smack! If he says "yes," you say "Oh, you want a smack?" And you give it to him!
"Stupid menuval, for such a small Taiva, I'm going to give up my sobriety?"

OK dude...

I don't know what you were put through in your childhood, but the most intense version we had of this was "I know you are but what am I". .

=====
=====

Re: Yes means "no" and no means "yes!"

Posted by Kedusha - 12 Jan 2010 05:36

---

Kollet Guy wrote on 12 Jan 2010 04:29:

There's an old trick (please use caution in telling this to any kids, because it may spread to someone who will use it to bully others): You say to someone "Yes means no, and no means yes! Do you want a smack in the face?" He loses either way. If he says "no," well that means "yes," and he gets a smack! If he says "yes," you say "Oh, you want a smack?" And you give it to him!

OK dude...

I don't know what you were put through in your childhood, but the most intense version we had of this was "I know you are but what am I". .

> >

Yeah, I went through that one too!

=====
=====

Re: Yes means "no" and no means "yes!"

Posted by me - 12 Jan 2010 22:03

---

"

Yes means no, and no means yes!

When I use to play this game, we also had "maybe no", and "Maybe yes",

While the menuvel was busy trying to figure this one out, there was always more than enough time to run him over.

=====

Re: Yes means "no" and no means "yes!"
Posted by imtrying25 - 12 Jan 2010 22:09

---

Was this another new thread started by someone who was trying to post in the "depressed persons chill spot"??

=====

Re: Yes means "no" and no means "yes!"
Posted by silentbattle - 24 Jan 2010 03:12

---

Interesting idea - I like it!

Plus, it made me smile, which is always nice...

=====