

if you own an iphone...

Posted by aryehtahor - 28 Jan 2010 21:01

Just in case anyone has an iphone and wants to get rid of the ability to view p, it is easy to lock yourself out of the browser app. Just PM me if you want to know how.

=====
=====

Re: if you own an iphone...

Posted by Giant Leap - 08 Feb 2010 04:04

aryehtahor, aryehtahor wrote on 08 Feb 2010 03:44:

In the final analysis, you can't "filter" your lust away. Filters are there as a line of defense, but they are no substitute for sincere teshuva and battling the YH.

You are right. This is what I was getting at. Its just that the "flaw of the covenant" has caused me much "flaws in knowledge (Da'as) and I can't experience true sincere tshuva or any remorse for my damage I've done. Even if I tell Hashem I don't want to do what I do, I keep on doing it. I learned that its not the phone or the computer (which are great tools) at fault, but me. Im too far in the hole to get out (or thats just how I feel today since I fell).

I looked at the link Guard posted. I think that I need to work on myself first and as the gentile philosophers say "know thyself". Anyhow, I don't want to depress you.

Thanks for replying.

====

Re: if you own an iphone...
Posted by aryehahor - 08 Feb 2010 04:17

Hi Giant Leap,

Don't hesitate to write what you are feeling for fear of depressing me. I assure you it won't.

As I understand it (and I'm no talmid chacham), the first step is to figure out strategies to stop doing what you are doing. Only later do you experience remorse for it and yearn to do teshuva and come back to Hashem.

I only mentioned teshuva as the ultimate goal. So don't be so hard on yourself! Try to connect with others as much as you can on GYE, and have plans in place for when you think you will fall. Draw as much support from us as you can, because it's near impossible to just "change my mentality around" alone.

I heard this from someone here : The YH doesn't really care about the averah per se, "he" cares about getting you depressed and full of despair afterward. So if you fell, it already happened, it was meant to happen! Now you must pick yourself up and keep on trucking.

=====
====

Re: if you own an iphone...
Posted by the.guard - 24 Feb 2010 10:55

Rage ATM wrote on 23 Feb 2010 21:20:

Are muggles now seeing the effect of our revolution? Apple has deleted all the garbage applicaions from iTunes store! While they took this action four days ago they only announced it today. While they always had an official policy against garbage, they turned a blind eye to it until 4 days ago. While the world remains a dangerous, dangerous place, ipod fans have a reason to rejoice.

When a Jew in Israel (or anywhere) holds back from sin, the Goyim in America feel it too!

Every time we say "no", we make the world a better place.

=====
=====

Re: if you own an iphone...

Posted by imtrying25 - 24 Feb 2010 11:19

guardureyes wrote on 24 Feb 2010 10:55:

Rage ATM wrote on 23 Feb 2010 21:20:

Are muggles now seeing the effect of our revolution? Apple has deleted all the garbage applicaions from iTunes store! While they took this action four days ago they only announced it today. While they always had an official policy against garbage, they turned a blind eye to it until 4 days ago. While the world remains a dangerous, dangerous place, ipod fans have a reason to rejoice.

When a Jew in Israel (or anywhere) holds back from sin, the Goyim in America feel it too!

Every time we say "no", we make the world a better place.

You see, you just never know how you can be mechazek someone!!

=====
=====

Re: if you own an iphone...

Posted by kosher_vision - 26 Apr 2010 22:30
Thanks Guard, that really made me feel good!!

Covenant Eyes also have an iphone application, which is designed as an alternative browser to Safari (which should be disabled, along with You Tube etc).

Worth checking out.

=====
=====