Do you have some really good kosher websites that you use to help you unwind.

A website that can get you out of a bad mood or just get you to relax a little bit can be very useful for many of us.

Please share your recommendations.

I am aware that there is a webpage regarding this topic in the tools area.

I think that a thread on the subject is also beneficial!

If you want, you can also write your personal experiences and preferences regarding your suggested website.

frumtube.com is sort of the jewish and kosher version of youtube, lots and lots of videos. videos can be an addiction on its own, but that is a different topic.
