

need help asap..which filters are discreet?

Posted by justdoit - 28 Jun 2011 13:26

Hi,

I noticed someone on the computer was going to really inappropriate sites, and I realized the only way to stop that person was to install a filter. However, I can't have the person figure out that I did that..they must just uninstall it or get mad at me for installing it. You see, they don't know that I know...!

any help?? What about the k9 one? I have hours left to install one before they come home.... It's scary how messed up people can get from the internet.
