I learned today that MSN should be avoided. There was a photo of a very inappropriately dressed woman today on that site, but I left the site as soon as possible.

Kol Hakavod! KUTGW!

My YH whispered into my ear, "Quick! Check out that MSN photo." But B"H I have erected fences (i.e. gedarim/nedarim) which prohibit me from going to any site that is not absolutely important. As a great tzaddik once said (way before the internet): If it's not important, you can do without it. If it's important, proceed with caution.
