

PETITION AGAINST SPLITTING UP THE WEBSITE

Posted by lionking - 15 May 2017 10:27

QUOTE FROM SHMIRAS AINYANIM EMAIL (1391):

Footnote by the editor:For the above-stated reason, GYE is in the process of dividing the website into two separate websites: one for non-addicts and one for addicts. We hope it's ready by the end of 2017, be"H.

I sign this petition against this idea. I consider myself a non-addict, but have gained tremendously from exposure to some great people whom are addicts.

=====

Re: PETITION AGAINST SPLITTING UP THE WEBSITE

Posted by Shlomo24 - 16 May 2017 02:58

Markz wrote on 15 May 2017 12:10:

Guys you're wasting your time

Please sign on the dotted line below and move on

"I am powerful against lust (non addict)

I am powerless against stupid ideas

Signed

.....

.....

.....

Markz"

.....

Shlomo

=====

=====

Re: PETITION AGAINST SPLITTING UP THE WEBSITE

Posted by Markz - 16 May 2017 03:09

Random note: An individual's calls were helpful to me in many ways. However, ultimately it was disempowering to hear that without the 12 steps I would be doomed to a life of lust. Not that it's anyone's fault of course. People just believe in what worked for them.

Pity we're all so different.

Maybe 1 fellow gave that impression

But on the same lines

ultimately it is disempowering to hear that without a separate forum, non addicts are doomed to a life of lust

=====

=====

Re: PETITION AGAINST SPLITTING UP THE WEBSITE

Posted by GrowStrong - 16 May 2017 09:01

Here is my 2c.

You guys are thinking about all the non-addicts that might not get the help they need.

But what about the addicts.

For example, sending the addicts to do TaphSik could push off their recovery for a few more months.

With the right method and system in place this is something that should be able to help all addicts and addicted non-addicts.

While there are tools that work for non-addicts that don't work for addicts there are many tools that don't work for addicts that work for non-addicts. (thats the same thing i think but anyways)

So reorganizing the sites tools with that in mind could actually be of a lot of use for the addicts that get to the site.

Having said that, one would expect more weight to be put on the 12 steps for the addict side of the fence.

Starting with the right form of questionnaire to direct the person to the side of the fence that will help them more from the get go won't be easy. Good luck to the guy that's going to create that one.

It is fully confirmed that this 'split' has nothing to do with the forum.

=====
=====

Re: PETITION AGAINST SPLITTING UP THE WEBSITE

Posted by cordnoy - 16 May 2017 09:29

GrowStrong wrote on 16 May 2017 09:01:

Here is my 2c.

You guys are thinking about all the non-addicts that might not get the help they need.

But what about the addicts.

For example, sending the addicts to do TaphSik could push off their recovery for a few more months.

With the right method and system in place this is something that should be able to help all addicts and addicted non-addicts.

While there are tools that work for non-addicts that don't work for addicts there are many tools that don't work for addicts that work for non-addicts. (thats the same thing i think but anyways)

So reorganizing the sites tools with that in mind could actually be of a lot of use for the addicts that get to the site.

Having said that, one would expect more weight to be put on the 12 steps for the addict side of the fence.

Starting with the right form of questionnaire to direct the person to the side of the fence that will help them more from the get go won't be easy. Good luck to the guy that's going to create that one.

It is fully confirmed that this 'split' has nothing to do with the forum.

Il don't know why a site needs to be split to get that accomplished (not that I agree, but going with your chiluk). Just have them write that chopsticks are for non addicts and 12 steps are for addicts.

=====

Re: PETITION AGAINST SPLITTING UP THE WEBSITE

Posted by GrowStrong - 16 May 2017 10:07

Yes that would be a good start I agree

=====

Re: PETITION AGAINST SPLITTING UP THE WEBSITE

Posted by Hashem Help Me - 16 May 2017 12:51

GYE says there is an issue at hand. Maybe if we can come up with another eitzah, it won't be necessary to split the site. They are getting many complaints from people who come to the site and wish to get better. Either they don't need 12 steps or they are not yet ready for 12 steps. As they explore the site, specifically the partner program and the forum they find themselves being very intimidated (by well intentioned people who do not realize how they are coming across). And many of them leave. Maybe the more cynical among us will say, "Well that means they have not yet hit rock bottom and therefore are not yet ready to work". That my friends, is simply not true. GYE feels a responsibility to help all of us in our own personal struggles. There is no one size fits all mehalech. Some need a soft patient approach, others appreciate a more challenging thought provoking one. Some need SA and 12 steps, others simply do not. Let's try to figure out a way this issue can be resolved so they do not need to split the site. Otherwise, although you and i may gain from everyone's collective wisdom, the needs of so many others who are not receiving the help they need, may force GYE to make the split. Suggestions?

=====

=====

Re: PETITION AGAINST SPLITTING UP THE WEBSITE

Posted by Markz - 16 May 2017 13:12

Hashem Help Me wrote on 16 May 2017 12:51:

GYE says there is an issue at hand. Maybe if we can come up with another eitzah, it won't be necessary to split the site. They are getting many complaints from people who come to the site and wish to get better. Either they don't need 12 steps or they are not yet ready for 12 steps. As they explore the site, specifically the partner program and the forum they find themselves being very intimidated (by well intentioned people who do not realize how they are coming across). And many of them leave. Maybe the more cynical among us will say, "Well that means they have not yet hit rock bottom and therefore are not yet ready to work". That my friends, is simply not true. GYE feels a responsibility to help all of us in our own personal struggles. There is no one size fits all mehalech. Some need a soft patient approach, others appreciate a more challenging thought provoking one. Some need SA and 12 steps, others simply do not. Let's try to figure out a way this issue can be resolved so they do not need to split the site. Otherwise, although you and i may gain from everyone's collective wisdom, the needs of so many others who are not receiving the help they need, may force GYE to make the split. Suggestions?

Here's my suggestion

There are 25 regular posters

There are 250 irregular posters

Can you or the admin please identify the perpetrators that push others to 12 steps?

Is there a spinning "12 Step" banner on every page of GYE?

In that case there will need to be 3 websites

1) Pro 12 Step

2) Anti 12 Step

3) Tap Dancers

Or maybe you meant something else?

You know what? Time to bump a nice old thread...

=====

Re: PETITION AGAINST SPLITTING UP THE WEBSITE

Posted by cordnoy - 16 May 2017 14:38

Hashem Help Me wrote on 16 May 2017 12:51:

GYE says there is an issue at hand. Maybe if we can come up with another eitzah, it won't be necessary to split the site. They are getting many complaints from people who come to the site and wish to get better. Either they don't need 12 steps or they are not yet ready for 12 steps. As they explore the site, specifically the partner program and the forum they find themselves being very intimidated (by well intentioned people who do not realize how they are coming across). And many of them leave. Maybe the more cynical among us will say, "Well that means they have not yet hit rock bottom and therefore are not yet ready to work". That my friends, is simply not true. GYE feels a responsibility to help all of us in our own personal struggles. There is no one size fits all mehalech. Some need a soft patient approach, others appreciate a more challenging thought provoking one. Some need SA and 12 steps, others simply do not. Let's try to figure out a way this issue can be resolved so they do not need to split the site. Otherwise, although you and i may gain from everyone's collective wisdom, the needs of so many others who are not receiving the help they need, may force GYE to make the split. Suggestions?

This also contradicts the assertion that the forum will not be split. Accordin' to your explanation, the forum is one of the two primary problems.

Il actually think that the private messagin' option might be the most detrimental part of the site, for then, people with skewered opinions are not fact checked.

Bottom line, this site is better than the sites we used to belong to.

=====

Re: PETITION AGAINST SPLITTING UP THE WEBSITE

Posted by Hashem Help Me - 16 May 2017 20:47

Markz wrote on 16 May 2017 13:12:

Hashem Help Me wrote on 16 May 2017 12:51:

GYE says there is an issue at hand. Maybe if we can come up with another eitzah, it won't be necessary to split the site. They are getting many complaints from people who come to the site and wish to get better. Either they don't need 12 steps or they are not yet ready for 12 steps. As they explore the site, specifically the partner program and the forum they find themselves being very intimidated (by well intentioned people who do not realize how they are coming across). And many of them leave. Maybe the more cynical among us will say, "Well that means they have not yet hit rock bottom and therefore are not yet ready to work". That my friends, is simply not true. GYE feels a responsibility to help all of us in our own personal struggles. There is no one size fits all mehalech. Some need a soft patient approach, others appreciate a more challenging thought provoking one. Some need SA and 12 steps, others simply do not. Let's try to figure out a way this issue can be resolved so they do not need to split the site. Otherwise, although you and i may gain from everyone's collective wisdom, the needs of so many others who are not receiving the help they need, may force GYE to make the split. Suggestions?

Here's my suggestion

There are 25 regular posters

There are 250 irregular posters

Can you or the admin please identify the perpetrators that push others to 12 steps?

Is there a spinning "12 Step" banner on every page of GYE?

In that case there will need to be 3 websites

- 1) Pro 12 Step
- 2) Anti 12 Step
- 3) Tap Dancers

Or maybe you meant something else?

You know what? Time to bump a nice old thread...

Why is it necessary to be cynical? Don't we all want to help as many people as possible? Are people entitled to their opinions? If the guard said people are uncomfortable, do you think he is making it up?

Cordnoy, what you write about PM may truly be a cause of the issue. Anybody, in whatever state of recovery he is in can write whatever he wants to whomever he wants. I think the oilam should put their energy into helping the guard uncover and deal with the issue, and in that way prevent the split.

=====

====

Re: PETITION AGAINST SPLITTING UP THE WEBSITE

Posted by Markz - 16 May 2017 21:00

I was not being cynical

I believe you hit the nail on the head when you say

"they find themselves being very intimidated" many people have the intimidation bug, even when chatting with a friendly brother here

I can identify old time members here that this applies to

Why is a separate website the solution? And more importantly, how is it a solution?

There's so many questions, and the few answers don't answer anything imho

=====
=====

Re: PETITION AGAINST SPLITTING UP THE WEBSITE

Posted by cordnoy - 16 May 2017 21:08

HHM,

Thank you.

I don't plan on doin' anythin'.

If someone asks my opinion, I will answer. There are deep issues and players here that cause me stress when I get involved. Recovery has taught me to keep my distance.

I said my piece here several times. The first mention of signin' a petition was by none other.

Keep up the passion and good work.

B'hatzlachah

=====

Re: PETITION AGAINST SPLITTING UP THE WEBSITE

Posted by Mesayin - 16 May 2017 21:56

I may have another idea.

Perhaps insert a setting in where the creator of the thread only allows certain users to see it and if it is a new user then there should be a choice for example that only platinum borders can see it.

The benefits would be as follows:

1. No trollers or stupid heads are putting in there crooked opinions.
2. The creator can be more honest with his posts and doesn't have to worry about some shmow reading it.

=====

Re: PETITION AGAINST SPLITTING UP THE WEBSITE

Posted by GrowStrong - 16 May 2017 22:00

Mesayin wrote on 16 May 2017 21:56:

I may have another idea.

Perhaps insert a setting in where the creator of the thread only allows certain users to see it and if it is a new user then there should be a choice for example that only platinum borders can see it.

The benefits would be as follows:

1. No trolls or stupid heads are putting in there crooked opinions.
2. The creator can be more honest with his posts and doesn't have to worry about some shmow reading it.

Thats regarding the forum which is not being split up and is remaining the same.

=====

Re: PETITION AGAINST SPLITTING UP THE WEBSITE
Posted by Mesayin - 16 May 2017 22:02

GrowStrong wrote on 16 May 2017 22:00:

Mesayin wrote on 16 May 2017 21:56:

I may have another idea.

Perhaps insert a setting in where the creator of the thread only allows certain users to see it and if it is a new user then there should be a choice for example that only platinum borders can see it.

The benefits would be as follows:

1. No trollers or stupid heads are putting in there crooked opinions.
2. The creator can be more honest with his posts and doesn't have to worry about some shmow reading it.

Thats regarding the forum which is not being split up and is remaining the same.

Exactly, instead of splitting it, make modifications to it.

=====
=====