

Welcome to SMF 2.0 RC2!

Posted by admin2 - 05 May 2010 14:26

Dear members,

As you may or may not know, our site has been amongst the hundreds and thousands of sites that got targeted by a virus that was circulating internet forums and Wordpress blogs last week. We thank you all for your patience during the past few days when the forum was offline while we dealt with the issue.

Just to get the forum back up and running with minimum downtime, we've decided to temporarily host it here on this server. In the meantime though, we continue to do work on our own server, and when things are completely sorted out over there, we'll move the forum back to where it was before. Please continue to bear with us.

Needing to replace all the files anyway, we took this opportunity to update the site with the latest software, SMF 2.0 RC2, and we hope you enjoy the new look and feel! In a rush to get the site back up - as is - some of our users may be noticing some errors in the software which haven't yet been weeded out by our developers. If you have any such errors, please do let us know by posting them here in this area, and we'll deal with them as soon as we can. Posting your software issues here in this area will let everyone know that an error's already been reported, and we don't get repeat messages reporting that same issue.

In order to make our job easier for us, we ask you to please take a screenshot of your issue and post it here. This can be simply done by:

1. Pressing the "Fn" key on (the bottom left of) your keyboard together with the "Prnt Scrn" key on the top right corner.
2. Opening the Paint application and pasting (Ctrl+V) this inside the window.
3. Saving your file, and uploading it right here to this thread.

Thank you for all your help,

admin2

Dear Friends:

Thanks for all your help in the crossover. It mostly looks fine, esp. on my desktop.

However, I am having the same problem that frumfiend mentioned in his own thread. My Windows Mobile phone used to pick up the next just fine and now it doesn't.

Too many details might "out" me, but basically I'm running a WinMo 5.0 phone with a screen about 240x240. The screen now shows most individual posts within threads as a funny measure of 1/2 a letter wide and a hundred columns long. Many pages say they can't finish loading because (I forget, maybe) the page cannot be found.

The section heading pages/indexes seem to be okay. It's only posts within individual threads.

Many graphics, avatars, etc aren't as good as before but I don't care.

Wish I could help more; PM for info if desired.

Thanks. Overall, a great job!

I still can't see some avatars on my PC, including my avatar (it just has a box with a small "x" in it) - is that a problem everyone still has, or is it just my PC ?

Yep, I'm still missing many avatars including my own. And including the ability to upload a new one. (That option is just a 'blank box with an x' on my screen, from what I can tell.)

I also can't see the text on my Windows Treo. (Earlier I said I couldn't see the 'next,' but it was a typo and I can't see the 'text.' All text in individual threads show up as a half-column wide and 100 long. Yes, still.

I wonder if all these 'redirects' from other domain names will be good forever and ever. I had some bookmarks that I might need to update, otherwise.

That's all I'm seeing for now. Thanks. - Briut

Guard: say it isn't so! I'm looking for the gay info page on the site. (Duh.) And the main compilation page still pulls up, even though I have a URL for the old guardureyes.com page.

www.guardureyes.com/GUE/FAQ/FAQ15.asp

BUT, when I click on the links within that page, the old rehab-your-site pages don't pull up at all. 404 errors. Yuk.

I'm hoping you can fix it. (Even though I happened to have the Feldman letter on my own hard drive so I could fulfill the request.)

Thanks.
