

Fun poll for Adar - to whom do you REALLY post?

Posted by TheJester - 05 Mar 2012 10:53

I have a theory: many of our posts to others, especially those with advice, are really directed to ourselves. I see people who struggle with specific issues, or have something that works in their situation, and their responses reflect this.

When I look at my replies, I see that most of what I say to others is best applied to myself.

=====

====