

where are they???

Posted by lavi - 29 Aug 2014 14:18

i noticed today that there are close to 1000 members currently on line.

why are there only around 30 people who post??

do the rest only like reading??

do they nod their heads and say uh huh to everything??

do they read the posts at all?

maybe the online connection fuses them with strength, without evening doing anything??

are they afraid that their input is traceable somehow??

are they plain shy??

or maybe not ready to face anything?

maybe no time to type??

maybe it is boring for them??

i'm really trying to understand.

=====

Re: where are they???

Posted by ineedchizuk - 04 Sep 2014 08:53

Very good.

Finally the truth is coming out.

We WILL get to the bottom of this! !

This is a good start- I takke c that you and Nine Thousand Four Hundred Ninety Four and you are on the same team, Lavi.

You've both been supplying some good conspiracy theories!

I happen to sit on a commission together with the Arab world to investigate what really took place on 9-11.

So far we've investigated all the Israeli prime ministers.

We haven't made our conclusion Public yet, but progress is being made.

=====

Re: where are they???

Posted by TehillimZugger - 04 Sep 2014 19:56

Ice cream, Isis anyone?

=====

Re: where are they???

Posted by ZemirosShabbos - 05 Sep 2014 00:26

ya know, i think al qaida like some isis now

=====

Re: where are they???

Posted by unanumun - 10 Sep 2014 01:06

You know i was wondering. the whole revealing your number of clean days on your profile picture started about the same time as this thread. there must be a connection. they are probably trying to distract us from something.

Also a lot of new guys just joined in the last few weeks and some old guys came back.
hhhmmmmm!!!!

did they let them out? did they send some back just to make us think that there is nothing going on????????????????

Or maybe they were all hidden in the tunnels in Gaza and they were all forced back into the world once the tunnels were destroyed????

=====
=====