

Site staff: Please create a "Feedback" forum

Posted by tealhill - 27 Feb 2015 01:17

Dear site staff: I wonder if you could please create a "Feedback and Suggestions" forum, for feedback regarding the Venishmartem and Guard Your Eyes websites and forums?

Dear forum members: Please do not reply if you only want to say "I agree". :) I would like to keep this thread concise. I plan to send a private message to the site webmaster in order to point him here.

When you first sign on, there is a box that opens on the bottom right, which is a help line. There are also contacts and gye help line. There are also moderators that can be asked. Is there a specific question you had in mind? Either write it here, or, if you didn't wanna publicize, you can email me: thenewme613@hotmail.com. The guards are extremely busy, and not always do they answer immediately.

I just wanted to alert the site staff regarding a slight problem with some software installed on the website.

It's not urgent. I plan to wait to hear back from the staff. If they decide not to create such a forum, I can create another thread here in "Just Having Fun" regarding the matter.

All the best.

Please write any issues to eyes.guard@gmail.com

Thanks!

And they are very good at catering the site to help the people and their problems/issues.

Thanks Guard!

the.guard PMed me back. He said he prefers that all feedback be emailed to him instead.

In the past, I've found him to be very responsive. So I sent him my actual feedback by email again this time. (It was a piece of feedback related to the site's private messaging system.)

Thanks all!
