YG,

?Has been an inspiration to all of us.

He is the always updating us on his struggles and helping out those in need. He reaches out the the bochurim who find it difficult.

He knows his triggers and makes gedarim around himself to protect himself.

Dear YG, in the merit of watching yourself and helping other , may the rebono shel olam bestow upon you shefa of brochos.

In honor of your 200 days may you find your true zivug and have bonim u'nei bonim oskim batorah u'b'mitzvos

I'll repost what I posted on his thread a few days ago. Chazara is always good.

Wow your posts and progress are so inspiring!

Here's a guy that's from a modern background, had/has all the internet access he wants (or doesn't), if I could guess he was in a co-ed class for at least some of his childhood, doesn't even have a BM near where he lives...

And with all that look where he is holding

He's 190+ days clean.

Gave up his connection to girls.

He's steiging in Yeshiva.

Wants to give up his smartphone, his parents probably think he went crazy or something...

Is not going online over bein Hazmanim.

Won't sleep near his phone at night.

Turned into a real Yeshiva Guy!

Truly Amazing!

Keep inspiring others

Dear YG Shlit"a

I feel guilty for having created this thread prematurely.

?My logic was to get you over the very difficult nisyonos of bain hazmanim - by helping you "hold your breath" for just a few more days. Just another day. Y'know, Steipler style.

However, shutting down this thread seems silly, as we all know that HKBH's metrics are based on sweat and tears - not cumulative days and silly charts.

So I will continue posting. Perhaps your 198 days correlate to 50,000 for someone else. I don't know. But this thread is about us marveling at your hard work that has resulted in miraculous and supernatural Siyata D'shmaya. Not about some cheap statistic.

I truly believe that you will remain clean. So I won't allow you to sabotage our cheering for you; there is a very fine line between true despair / defeatism - vs. simply creating excuses to exempt oneself from engaging in the grueling grind known as life.

We will keep this thread open, we are behind you we are 100%, we do not allow you to close this thread!

Chime oilam, chime (please)

You tube is something big bears on gye like to test Drive every 200 days and get a quick reminder who's the boss. It's owned by google Drive, so there's not much negotiating there...
~~You guys are all wrong. Dead wrong~~

Someone that managed +-200 days despite the Google drive and App Stores available, stays

There's no coming back down!!!!

Marks is the big boss here

If he took the time to cheer you on, dont beat yourself up. rise like a lion and move on. Your a beast you could conquer the fall. You are better than that.

We are all rooting for you!

You will only let us down if you stop trying!

Remind yourself why your here, what your goals are and recommit yourself!

Please update us with how your gonna do that.

Most importantly your a major chizuk to us all and almost 200 days is no small feat...

So Lechayim @yeshivaguy for giving it all you got!

BEZH this will be in the past..time to look forward
