

The Grouchery: Haven for the Grumpily Disgruntled

Posted by youknowwho - 08 Mar 2024 15:01

Speaking to a few friends offline gave birth to this idea, it seems to be an urgent and immediate necessity.

Welcome to...The Grouchery: Haven for the Grumpily Disgruntled

This thread is a place where one can feel free to rant, vent and gripe.

It is a safe haven for negativity, sourness and blahness.

It is a place where one can be sure to find a healthy dose of demotivating advice. It is a place where any kind of positivity is strictly forbidden.

It is a place where you can vent about what a rotten day you're having and not worry that people will then reach out with concerned pm's/texts...cuz nobody really cares. And that's perfectly fine, why should anybody care?

Please Remember:

-No profanity (Sadly)

-No personal insults (Sadly)

- Absolutely no: Nice, positive, warm, loving, optimistic, motivational, supportive or inspiring posts. (Not sadly)

Enter at your own risk!

Chances are that this has been grouched about already (whether on or off the official Grouchery) but I really must address dumb, bad drivers.

I mean, you'd think they know how driving works, how the rules the road go. But nooooo. They show up and completely mess up the flow of traffic. Seriously. How can it be that, in the entire world, yours truly is the best and only smart driver?

I feel that there should be some sort of test, like a qualifier, to ensure that people know what they're doing being the wheel. Oh, wait... Maybe just an IQ test? Whatever it is, SOMETHING!!!!!!

Ask YKW. It won't help to take an IQ test, or a cognitive test. They were just wearin' their hats, they were. So, what we need is the hat police, or make the roofs of the cars so low that a hat doesn't fit in. Or just plain ol' tickets for drivin' while wearin' 'em.

Oh, I'm just wonderin', I saw in the news today about a guy goin' the wrong way on street in _____, all while screamin' at the others, was that you? The article mentioned somethin' about strings flyin' out of the window...

To your second point, everybody ELSE was driving the wrong way!

Yeah, so when I "signed up" to have another kid, I never thought he'd start teething before 3 months. I mean, our first started at around 4-5 months, so I figured we'd be safe until at least then. But nooo, he just had to beat his big brother.

On a similar grouch-note, am I just supposed to not wear my nice suits until he stops spitting up? I freaking position the burp cloth to catch his stuff, and just in time- he nails my suit! And, even if the burp cloth is in position, he outsmarts his totty and aims around the bleeping thing! What the ?!!!

My favorite halacha is that the mishna berura says not to hold children on shabbos (since they'll urinate on you). I'm very makpid on that one.

That was before they invented diapers, dude. You should find out about that invention before you get your next visitor...

Just because "they all say that", doesn't mean that it's not true.
