

The Grouchery: Haven for the Grumpily Disgruntled

Posted by youknowwho - 08 Mar 2024 15:01

Speaking to a few friends offline gave birth to this idea, it seems to be an urgent and immediate necessity.

Welcome to...The Grouchery: Haven for the Grumpily Disgruntled

This thread is a place where one can feel free to rant, vent and gripe.

It is a safe haven for negativity, sourness and blahness.

It is a place where one can be sure to find a healthy dose of demotivating advice. It is a place where any kind of positivity is strictly forbidden.

It is a place where you can vent about what a rotten day you're having and not worry that people will then reach out with concerned pm's/texts...cuz nobody really cares. And that's perfectly fine, why should anybody care?

Please Remember:

-No profanity (Sadly)

-No personal insults (Sadly)

- Absolutely no: Nice, positive, warm, loving, optimistic, motivational, supportive or inspiring posts. (Not sadly)

Enter at your own risk!

Brother, are you telling me that your friend who knows that your wife doesn't like you out working late at night, calls you up and asks you to come fix a problem that HE himself made?

Block his number.

That'll teach him!

Decided I'll download the GYE app since sitting on the GYE website is a time-killing gateway drug for me.

Shlepped over to TAG to open the app store. Sneakily downloaded the app - while hiding my screen from the TAG guy of course. Slunk out of the TAG office hoping no one noticed what shameful app I downloaded.

Get to my car, fire up the app. And boom! The app needs a webpage to work.

I have the browser totally locked down. The only way to have to the page unblocked was to go back in to TAG and have the guy input the restrictions code to unblock the specific page the app goes to.

Heck no.

So here I am back on the website.

You are supposed to say that it's your friend's phone and he's too embarrassed, so you are doing it for him.

40 hungry men who haven't eaten breakfast yet descending on a single box of dainishes . . .
Nope.

I read that as bochur, not b'chor, at first. True either way though.

How's about pre-Chag traffic- with drivers who seem to have just met the road, plus walkers who act as if they've never walked on a flipping street with cars.

And how lovely it is to navigate said streets with the nervous wreck of a Rebbetzin sitting in the passenger seat, freaking out at every lane switch.

Wait, wait, wait

You have time to drive?

With the Rebbetzin?!?!?!?

No one is cleaning, or cooking, or chasing toddlers who stole a cracker and are now headed straight for the kashered kitchen sink?

It's not even Erev Pesach yet, and we're all already starving.

Question for a competent Rav:

Is it permissible for one to make a bracha and eat ????? ???? (banana, yogurt and lady fingers) while locked in the bathroom? The ??? ???? is currently the only ???? ????? in the entire house, as we've opted to stay home today with the ????? and, well....

Oish dis so very shverre shaileh

It's really 3 shaillas, 1 eating yogurts and lady (foi) Man fingers is mishing, lekuvod yom tom peisech?

2 eating in the batroom, lekuvod yom tov ramadan?

3 what bruche to making, lekuvod yom tov sikkes?

I tinkin' everyting cud bein' far-entfert wit one big teretz, it dependings if you going to the Rebbes Tish den mishing is no more a prubleim, and farshteit zich dat the kedisha from the Tish is maaleh di nitzoitzes hamukom and the bathroom becomings a mukom kudosh, so farshteit zich dat you have to making a leisheiv betoilet, becuse it's so heilig...

But if you chas veshulom not going to Tish... foi!!! foi!!! foi!!! I don't wanting to saying wat cud happens from eating in de fuchy tumeneh toilet... oif alle goiyem gezugt.

While driving to some trip the other day, my wife was freaking out over my driving- "you're getting too close!!" "The other driver is coming into our lane!!!" You know. Classics.

She that just because she has trauma from past accidents (granted, the last one was actually me behind the wheel), she can get nervous and take it out on me, since I'm not being "careful enough".

Warning: Spoiler!
