

The Grouchery: Haven for the Grumpily Disgruntled

Posted by youknowwho - 08 Mar 2024 15:01

Speaking to a few friends offline gave birth to this idea, it seems to be an urgent and immediate necessity.

Welcome to...The Grouchery: Haven for the Grumpily Disgruntled

This thread is a place where one can feel free to rant, vent and gripe.

It is a safe haven for negativity, sourness and blahness.

It is a place where one can be sure to find a healthy dose of demotivating advice. It is a place where any kind of positivity is strictly forbidden.

It is a place where you can vent about what a rotten day you're having and not worry that people will then reach out with concerned pm's/texts...cuz nobody really cares. And that's perfectly fine, why should anybody care?

Please Remember:

-No profanity (Sadly)

-No personal insults (Sadly)

- Absolutely no: Nice, positive, warm, loving, optimistic, motivational, supportive or inspiring posts. (Not sadly)

Enter at your own risk!

There are some things you can't share without ending up liking each other, and grouching alongside fellow porn addicts is one of them ~ Harry

Prince Harry, Duke of Sussex, British royal, military veteran, and humanitarian said that?

It most deff wasnt The Chosen One.....He is holier than thou.

Dear(less) azivashacheit101,

I dont care that you paradox'd us.

I dont even care that its not a real word. JK Rowling also made up words.

Where the heaven do you get the Hutzpa to come in here, the only place left in the world where someone can be themselves and say it as it is, and make this a happy place? yuch!

Where else can i go and complain to fellow normal's (also a word)???

Are we just supposed to be all Happy-going, Botox-faced, smile plastered, eyes-twinkling, pot-bellied, Santa-clause?

There has been enough joking around here to last for a while. Enough already.

Lets get back to griping, complaining, *itching, grouching, yelling, and that sort of stuff, that stuff thats good for you.

Perspective Uno:

Yossi, what the heck are you thinking?! It's a plain, simple Shabbos, no one is interested in that long Belz Av Harachamim song for Mimkomcha! Save it for when you need to impress someone.

Two minutes later:

Kalman, what's the matter with you?! You're butchering a beautiful song by being off-beat at the rhythmic escalation. For the love of everything holy, listen to yourself! Can't you hear that you're the only one starting the next bar at downbeat 1? You're supposed to wait till the upbeat! And stay at 65 BPM, what are you doing at 80? And because you have the loudest voice in the Shul, you're throwing everything off-kilter. Grrrrr

My wife and I recently went on a mini "vacation". Yup. It was meant to be a really fun, short one, doing something that I've always wanted to do with my wife. (No, nothing to do with intimacy, you pervs.)

Due to a few factors (actually, it was just one- there'd be many very inappropriately dressed women around. And still, nothin' to do with intimacy.), we ended up changing our entire plan just days before. The new plan was something my wife had always wanted to do. So she got her dream trip, while I got my dreams dashed. Shoyn. At least I'd get a little break from life. Lol.

Seeing as we had a couple of hours of flying, I figured it works be an excellent time to do some catching up on ????? ??, especially since we got cheap tickets and therefore couldn't choose our seats, so I'd have some alone time. I even brought along a new pair of tzitzis to tie. Lol. First flight was mostly empty- and we got seats next to each other. Second flight was full- and we STILL sat next to each other.

And for all y'all who're getting ready to say something like "oh, but you got some quality time!", or "you flew on vacation? You lucky duck!". You can try to bring down my Grouch. Have at me.

NO MORE YKW! I'm done with the bloodshed and ready to fight!

Sir Cadagon and I shall till ye Irons!

Slit thy Gallblatter!

we shall not back down!
