In other news, the Super Subaru is gone. Well, technically it's not news, cuz it died quite a while ago, and it's not gone cuz it's still sitting in my driveway. Either way, I recently got my replacement- which means I need a new name for my car/vroom-vroom,beep-beep!

Deets, please...

Can't go shootin' in the dark like last time...

(And why didn't you just continue the thread from last time??)

Kay, fine. Be that way.

Old Toyota Sienna. A faded red is its (not really sure if it's a dude or a dudette, yet) color. Some paint peeling.

It has a lot of character. As of yet, it still has some sticky stuff in easy-to-reach places (yeah, right). The sliding doors are moody and temperamental and only open when they're good and in the mood.

Warning: Spoiler!

I do hope you all have enough to work with.
