

Back on Track's trekking along

Posted by Back on Track - 07 Aug 2011 19:45

hi everybody. clean 100 days here. but looking for chizuk in continuing this journey to where we all know we want to be. A little about me. born modern- became frum later in life. Had prob with m* since I was able to. I began working toward recovery about 2 years ago. I had a lot of ups and down, I am finally at a point where things in that area of life seem to be leveling out. only thing is everything else is so up in the air..... I actually dont know whether Im comin or goin. But Hashem has a plan for all of us, and thats what we need to follow.

... Just thinkin this throug s'more.. Maybe I'd more aptly seek the title of GYE merrymaker... No.. That's not it... Badchan?... Minstrel! Yup. That be it. I hereby nominate claim and annex all rights rules and regulations of being the official magical minstrel of GYE. One flek of my pixie dust leaves you smiling for hours. One flek of my dandruff... Well... Let's not go down that road right now... onward men! CHARGE! In deference to my last semi-coherent post. I ALSO wanna be gYE DJ! Comin up with the top 40. BOT counts em down! Ur favorite sobriety hits...coming soon from a small screen near me to a big screen near you.

just fyi, in order to formally install you in your new self-appointed position we need to do a quick possum-oil-annointing ceremony.

and recently i spoke to a guy who said that the reason his 12 year old son was doing poorly with his gemara was entirely due to Yalili. and he went on to explain how Yalili ruins jewish music and the general ruach of klal yisrael. i tried arguing with him but i saw that he was firmly entrenched. so BOT, beware, lest you join forces with the scourge of 12yr-old-gemara-comprehension.

p.s. some blame all their frumkeit problems on sushi. everyone should follow their minhag...

shetehay! with wasabi
