Hi,

I introduced myself, not long ago, Here. But I have grown since then, and have outgrown my small house in the "Introduce Yourself" part of town. I am a Jr. Member and soon will be a "Full Member" IY"H, so I decided I needed to build a new house in a new neighborhood. I looked around at different neighborhoods and saw some spectacular houses in "Wall of Honor". I see that Zemmy and Bards have built here among others, so I decided to plant myself here as well. I will hopefully build some walls of honor myself, and continue to make great friends along the way.

I plan to use this as my main posting thread. So please come in and make a l'chayim, or enjoy some chocolate babke and fresh brewed coffee, or just stop by to say hello.

It's a privilege to dwell among such chashuve yidden!

Bumps in the road are a normal part of any marriage; addict or not. The question is what do you do when the road gets steep?

I once heard a beautiful mashal:

When a couple get married, they are given a long rope to hold. Each stands at opposite ends of the rope. Every time they argue, its as if they cut the rope which joins them. They are now faced with two choices; either to continue holding a torn rope as if nothing happened, and to pretend its not dragging along behind them.

Or they can chose to fix it.

To rejoin the rope, they will need to tie a knot at the break. What happens when one ties a knot in something? The distance between the two ends come closer!

If you can learn how to disagree, then each difference of opinion will in essence, BRING YOU CLOSER THAN EVER BEFORE!

The problem with "self control" is 2 things.

Self

and control

Both are toxic for me.
