Hi,

I introduced myself, not long ago, Here. But I have grown since then, and have outgrown my small house in the "Introduce Yourself" part of town. I am a Jr. Member and soon will be a "Full Member" IY"H, so I decided I needed to build a new house in a new neighborhood. I looked around at different neighborhoods and saw some spectacular houses in "Wall of Honor". I see that Zemmy and Bards have built here among others, so I decided to plant myself here as well. I will hopefully build some walls of honor myself, and continue to make great friends along the way.

I plan to use this as my main posting thread. So please come in and make a l'chayim, or enjoy some chocolate babke and fresh brewed coffee, or just stop by to say hello.

It's a privilege to dwell among such chashuve yidden!

Hi Gibbor,

I can relate to that totally and completely. the factors you describe, plus being extremely shy and feeling isolated/"left out" as a child/teenager were the "perfect storm" for me.

I know you've seen my thread, but I will link it here for the newbies:

And here's another great thread on the subject:

Gevura!

Thanks for weighing in. So I have 2 people on this site so far (one told me by email) that identify with what he says.

I just find it amazing how much we (me included, maybe at the head), as from yidden accept from the media as truth. We try and defend the Torah without realizing that the whole thing is liberally driven narrishkeit in the first place. The Torah does not need our apologies.

I am friends with more than a handfull of guys who are either openly gay or closeted (and may or may not be fighting it), and from what I gathered, each one of them didn't have a strong father in their life, and each one had a very strong female (mother, grandma, etc) bring them up.

I harbor a fear that my sons will be gay because I was too dependent on my wife and too wimpy. It is a fear I need to let go of, but I thought it appropriate to share here.

After all, we are all honest with eachother here on our little island of near-sanity. Right?

THanks.

oops! you are out of balantz

you will have to wait until 1331

Thanks everyone, I appreciate all the honest answers. That's the only kind allowed here

I just thought of a chiddush in the expression "go with the flow". It usually means to not take things too seriously and just let things happen.

Rav Dessler (I think) explains that ??? actually comes from the word ??? which means to flow. We think of ??? as "luck", but really it "flows" down to us from above by divine decree. We can use the expression "go with the flow" to mean accept Hashem's will for us. Going with the "flow" from on high so to speak, rather than trying to control our circumstances and fight against what Hashem has decreed for us.
