More recently I made the resolution to avoid news site that feature entertainment news (read almost soft porn) in the side bar.

Makes a big difference. The yetzer hora has other ways to test me, but I will not intentionally

I fell.
I did not masturbate but I intentionally viewed images that I should not have.
Just to elaborate how the brain works, my mind yetzer hora is saying that it was not so bad because it was not porn. And an alcoholic can drink beer because the alcohol content is lower than vodka uh no.)
Day Zero

Just to elaborate. I was like I was over come with this crazy urge. I don't remember that last time I had that urge Maybe being home alone for lunch was the trigger? That was the typical environment where I would falling the past. I've been home many times for lunch since since starting to get a handle on the problem, but never had such an urge?
Any idea?

One more thought a vort i once heard from a friend,
In parshas vayeira the angels warn Lot and his family not to look back at the city of Sodom being destroyed. Lot's wife did and she turned into a pillar of salt.
"Dont look behind you" ie: don't focus on your past. If you do you will not be able to move forward. Lot's wife looks and gets turned into a pillar of salt. Salt, the classic preservative, as if to say, she was stuck in her past and was not able to move forward.
