Keep on Smiling!!

Make sure to remember though that it's not the amount of days that you have that make it count, it's what you do with the present day that counts and that will make the difference.

KOMT!!! KOP!!

Welcome back Im Not Alone!!!

Great to see your positive attitude, and that your trying again!!!

But why don't you think of something you will do different this time? Something that is within your ability not something other guys can do, rather what could work for you for the time being.

Also maybe try to think why the last time(s) didn't work or why did you disappear for about two years.

KOMT and waiting to hear from you some good news be"h!!!
