

laughingman tries to count to 90.....

Posted by laughingman - 14 Mar 2013 16:01

as of today all my posts are here as far as my own topics are concerned

i have had 2 falls but i am now a week into a new streak

i have had success in breaking some previously unbreakable habits not m habits ...thoses i have dealt with somewhat but even farther

as a result of the rules that i follow through the 90 days and though i have slips about once in 2-3 days every day foward breaks that tooo down so that it becomes less frequentand eventually non-existent

i recently got the s3 and i have had soo far Thank G-d no desire to sttempt to use it for searching ****

i personnaly dont use software barriers for myself (for my kids i do of course)

i can break them too easy ...the only way out is personal honesty

as all of these things are for now personal actions and it is working ...hopefully it will continue though im sure the real war is coming

Sorry to hear about your fall....

What happened? What do you mean "it was more involuntary than not"?

I sympathize. chaver, and understand more than you may know with the process you and your wife are going through right now. Our tefilos are with you and if you wish to PM me her name, my wife and I will put her on our list.

Continued hatzlocha, chaver. You are truly a good man.

Yesterday i got another one of her tests doneand there is a major thing at a well known clinic next week....but getting all the dominoes on that is getting alittle tougher than i thoughtand i dont think its easy i wish i did everything perfect sometimes.....

I live everyday in anxiety and nervousness.....i try not to let it go to anyone but also i dont have opportunity to talk about it much

Can you talk a little bit here about how much you love her, please? I think it is important specifically here.

Please PM me if you want us to use her name, chaver.

of course i love her i try to let all my actions reflect that everyday

my whole purpose of moving out here (besides the religious implications) was to help her sure i complain on here about things that are frustrating but that doesnt change that most of my day i spend taking care of her/working cause i love her im always worried im not doing enough

i also love G-d and i try to show this by following though on my commitment to this process here and all my teshuva processes

Oh, boy. I never asked you at all whether you love your wife, gevalt. Why did you write "of course I love her"? All I suggested is that you to elaborate here a bit about how much you love her and what that means to you.

And then you did. So I think that's great. It sounds to me that she is a very fortunate woman to be married to you, and that the love between the two of you is really a deep, meaningful connection, b"H, as hashem clearly 'wants' married couples to have...but many have very little recognition of their love and connection to each other. And many may have it, but do not say it. My wife and I say it to each other every now and then, just to express ourselves in machshovah as well as in dibbur and in ma'aseh.

I relate to your anxiety and pain, chaver. It must weigh very heavily on you, gevalt. I have been unable to sleep, laying in my bed at times, worried about my wife's health when issues came up. The feeling of anxiety is gripping and hard to describe. Very hard.

May Hashem help us accept the present with both hands, one day at a time, and to live in real reality instead of in the sensible fears and imaginations that we will simply not be able to handle whatever outcomes the future may hold.

Today is a much better place to actually live in and be useful in, than tomorrow is.

Much love and respect, chaver.

It seems you missed this in my post just above (altered a bit for clarity).

I have had a very difficult time the last few days keeping up with my commitments to not fall recently...

The pressure has been getting to me more than usual

The greatest challenge is mostly at night so i have committed from here on to make it easier to keep away from electronics at night except around peoplei keep feeling down from my last fallsi know all the chizuk....its still hard to just accept and move oni know its all y'h and its mission to make it difficult as this is my testB'H i have tehillim on my phone to keep me

company
