

laughingman tries to count to 90.....

Posted by laughingman - 14 Mar 2013 16:01

as of today all my posts are here as far as my own topics are concerned

i have had 2 falls but i am now a week into a new streak

i have had success in breaking some previously unbreakable habits not m habits ...thoses i have dealt with somewhat but even farther

as a result of the rules that i follow through the 90 days and though i have slips about once in 2-3 days every day foward breaks that tooo down so that it becomes less frequentand eventually non-existent

i recently got the s3 and i have had soo far Thank G-d no desire to sttempt to use it for searching ****

i personnaly dont use software barriers for myself (for my kids i do of course)

i can break them too easy ...the only way out is personal honesty

as all of these things are for now personal actions and it is working ...hopefully it will continue though im sure the real war is coming

LM I clicked on your thread from hte 90 day chart. Having sobriety and losing it, and then coming back is a real fight. Never give up, your perseverance is an inspiration to me.. I took far too long to get back and while I work toward 90, I am beginning to see that the reality is not the count, but the willingness to keep coming back and start again if need be...

I have to say i dont feel like i am an inspirationi feel like im failing miserablymaybe its because for years now i failed to adequetly define my problem correctlyi went from not thinking im an addict to being convinced i am to being sure its all really a sholom bayis issue to a myriad of other problemsThank G-d my marital problems seem to have moved alittlei am frightened to even acknowledge progress in that area ...i am terrified of "jinxing" whatever positive we have accomplished....i think we have come to the new realization that all we have is each other and that we arent perfect and thats okbut back to what i was saying (how about that for a twist im going back to my original issue) i dont have yet a true handle on what i am having a problem with and what i want to accomplishi know that when i act out i A: m; i B: look at porn and c: am unloving to my wifewhich is why soo many count resets latelyi still dont have a proper support anythingi talk here and there to dov and others

...but now i think having said all that i wish to understand and keep to a lifestyle where my obsession with self pleasure is understood by me as something i actually have no control over and need to define clearly what my real boundaries need to bei feel.like an absolute failurebut only when i ejac*. There are a bunch of steps that lead to thatjust like in drinkingthe first drink inevitably leads to a drunken episodeafter which the alcoholic feels empty and miserablebut this is worsecause i focus on what the Torah saysand beat myself up for it every timebut now when i act out i try to.put it out of my mind and dont worry about the "gehinnom" no matter how vivid i feel.it and try to remember "???? ???? ???? ??" and surely i am considered as a sick person rather than a sinnerbut at the same time i feel like "nu, if a sick person flung himself out a window; wouldnt he still be at least severely damaged? If not dead?" And all the more so if he does it repeatedly ...

....i think we have come to the new realization that all we have is each other and that we arent perfect and thats ok

That is more than OK, that is HUGE!

Well that certainly is a mouthful or a screenful LM. I can't comment on all of it at this time, and some of it I don't think I would comment on at all. But what you say regarding the ruchniyus aspect of it really resonates. I also only 'feel' bad when I ejaculate. But that is wrong. It is the frummy in me. My real problem is using lust in any way. From the first look, to beginning to lust and delve into thoughts or images.. to masturbation. Even just starting it... That is where I have crossed the line into acting out- acting on my lust. Seeing it here in black and white makes me realize how much I have been going about this the wrong way by only getting upset at myself when I 'finish'

This is because... If I only feel guilty when I finish, I can start because maybe I won't finish... right!? What usually winds up happening is that I finish in any case which is bad and I feel guilty. When I don't finish, I go away and think I am ok... But I am really not. I just lusted, and for me that was not 'just' an aveira, but acting on a set of internal compulsions that will ultimately kill me. Just like a drug addict dies from his addiction, and an alcoholic may die from his... mine will lead me to death. Maybe through disease, maybe through looking just a little too long at a billboard or another driver while on the highway... maybe by keeping mein constant depression which will of course lead to other health problems.. But it will kill me.

Really I need to understand that the starting is the problem. The masturbation is already acting out for me and any masturbation addict. Even before masturbating I am acting out. And that is what I need a support group and other addicts to help me recover from.

What does NOT work for me, EVER is thinking about punishment. Gehinom, Yom Kippur, knassing myself.. all that stuff just has me glazing my eyes over in depression and it doesn't get me toward not acting out. Sure feels bad... Makes me believe I am committing... but never improved a bit. Not one bit from it.

I mean ti me it is an inspiration that you had sobriety and lost it and came back... Right now I need that inspiration. I had a good stretch of sobriety, lost it and really lost it... and now I want to come back. Seeing others working recovery, even slipping back into acting out sometimes but still getting back to working recovery is what it takes for me to believe I can do it too.

If you are an addict, which you sound like you may be... you are sick. Sick means you need to get medicine. I don't believe Hashem will punish me for being sick... He made me sick and knows how sick I am... but for not taking my medicine, I can be held accountable.

LM,

Whoa, it sounds like you're in a lot of emotional pain. It hurts my heart to read it because you sound like a real neshama. Something about your post and the deep honesty and emotion in it just really pulls at my emotion and makes me feel for you.

The progress you describe is huge, and you can't jinx it bc it didn't come by accident- it sounds like you've either worked on it or come to some sort of realization.

So many of us have been on and off the wagon, and since someone is always falling off, there's always an empty seat- so hop on! The chevra here can definitely help you tons.

Let us know how we can help.

Seems like I've seen this kind of posting.....not sure where.....Markz, you're really something else. And I love having back the old signature- that new one didn't do it for me, although the revolving sign was pretty cool.

Thank you Laughingman for your honest share.

I was on this forum well over a year (after trying to quit for a couple of years already), acting out regularly and feeling like crap before I finally got fed up enough to do something different. I had so many people telling me that my thread helped them, but I felt terrible. My writing on this forum seemed to help other people but not me, I was still stuck acting out all the time. Why should I sacrifice myself for the forum? Should I continue as I am and write about my pain on here so that others can get chizzuk from it? Sorry but I'm not interested in being a hero, I just want to be OK.

At some point I acted out one time too many and something inside me changed. I just couldn't continue like this. I became desperate. That's when I joined SA and that's been the best thing for me.

Not that joining SA itself got me sober. I went to meetings and read the books, waiting for G-d to remove the obsession, so I wouldn't have to struggle any more, but He didn't. It was a while and another case of acting out once too many before I became desperate enough to actually do the work. Thank G-d everything in my life has become better since then.

I can relate to the feeling that it's all hopeless, what's the use. I felt that way many times. I tried so hard and fell flat on my face, so empty and defeated. But in the end it was the feeling of hopelessness that started me on the road to better things.

There's some guys older than 50 on this site in recovery, if you want you can wait till then to find a therapist or join SA, no one will tell you what to do

Were here to listen

Ditto to the doc.

I don't believe I was suffering but I couldn't get it under control.

SA was a huge turning point for me.

We spoke once on the phone. Can we do it again?
