

?? ????? ?? ?? ??? ?????

Posted by tryingtoshteig - 08 Jul 2013 21:43

After joining the forum and posting looking for eitzos and chizuk a couple of months ago, (which I am happy to say I recieved on both accounts, thank you all) I reached a point where I felt comfortable trying to "move on" with life, stopped posting, stopped updating my chart for a little, and sort of adopted a "ignore the yeitzer and it will go away" mehalech. Bad move (anyone surprised?).

After having a few shvere weeks of falling, I kind of pulled myself out of my rut (or I should say Hashem pulled me out; where would I be if I had to fend for myself?) and am back on the right track now, B"H.

My point is, while I may have some outstanding "technical issues" to resolve (i.e. my work computer's filter is still broken, which I am not quite sure how that happened, or if there is a feasible way to either fix it or install something else, not as easy as it sounds, but I am getting off topic...), I think that what I really need to do is post my progress on a very regular basis on the forum, whether or not I have something intelligent to say. I would like to be mekabel this commitment to post every day that I am at work (my ikar makom sakana) and able to post, with a little more than a ??? ???, but less than a ??? (at least for now)(does such a madreiga even exist?). So hopefully, if you are reading this, you should expect to hear from me on a regular basis (five days a week, Monday thru Friday) unless I am really bogged down with legitimate work stuff that I don't have time to post (halevai, kein yehi ratzon).

So, without further ado (drumroll, please).....Ahem...

Today is July 8, 2013, ??? ??? ????? ??, '?'?????', and I am clean today! (and have been for about a week now, but why bring up irrelevant matters!?)

See you tomorrow!

Oy vey, I had better be careful not to quote what my Rov said on Rosh Hashanah, or somebody is gonna figure out who I am!

Wow, what a week it has been since I made that post! The yomim tovim been a totally different experience for me this year compared to previous years. I actually felt like my life is going somewhere now and I am not beating my head against the wall. I still have plenty to do teshuva for, but now at least I can hope that my teshuva has something real to it, and that next year's teshuva can build on this year's progress.

This past year Hashem bentched me with:

(1) A fantastic first full-time job, better than anything I could have hoped for. Especially with my history of botching up job opportunities.

(2) A fantastic network of support (that would be you guys here) to help me deal with my 15 year old addiction (that could be interpreted in 2 different ways, either that my addiction started when I was a 15 year old (which is true, give or take a year or two), or that my addiction itself is 15 years old (gosh, now my addiction is a teenager, now that's scary!))

(3) As of the days between when I posted what my Rov said on Rosh Hashana and Yom Kippur, a real, live, living, breathing, human friend with a real name and a real face who frequents this very forum to share my struggles with (Thank you to those of you out there who)

So it is with much gratitude that I say, today is "? ???? , ????"?. Today I am clean!

Warning: Spoiler!

Wu is the Pinyin transliteration of the Chinese surname 武 (Traditional Chinese), 武 (Simplified Chinese), which is the tenth most common surname in Mainland China.

en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Wu_\(surname\))

This isn't a joke, it's a common occurrence.
