

MISGABER? or perhaps not yet.....

Posted by misgaber41 - 18 Feb 2014 23:16

So here is how it goes.

BUT !

When I was all of 9 years old, I had a class mate who came from a wealthy family always had more than he needed, his father a very very generous person always gave him extra to share with others, and share he did , but it came with a price tag! he would bribe me to go to the bathroom for a minute in middle of class let him... and he would reward me with whatever he had that day. obviously this didn't happen to often but occasionally this did, without any body knowing of anything!

Now I am not looking to blame anybody for my shortcomings but myself, I should of known better then to go along with this, But... this is the sad reality.

After Bar mitzvah we split up in 2 different Yeshivos, but naturally I was left with a dent and as a result I would have fantasies of all sorts did not have a clear head for a day, but I learned in a very respected Yeshiva was very careful to keep my dignity, made sure to act and talk properly, but inside myself lied a very big secret, many times was I anxious to go talk to a mashgiach about my problem, but my self respect shame and being afraid of revealing my secret kept me back of doing so. I would never drink a ounce on Purim being afraid of letting loose, and maybe I will say something!

So I lived that double life having a name as a TOP BOY and deep down I knew that I was a BOTTOM BOY!

Then came the big blow when I took a office job like 3 years ago and got access to a computer all day long... more need to be said? I found out and filled in all that I have been missing all along after a short while I went from bad to worse My wife kept on asking me what's the matter but of course after so many years of doing this I am quit a good actor and managed to fool her too.

After a while of this behavior and after a deep fall I decided to follow a link from GYE and see what they have to offer, I didn't sign up the first time cuz I cant unveil my secret but after a few times and realizing that I cant fool MYSELF any longer I gave it a try.

So like 4 months ago I had the privilege of joining this holy community and signed up counting 90 days, chatted a lot, read the forum a lot, and even made some close friends which I speak often on the phone, but I still had convicted myself that I am not as bad as the others here I don't need to open up to the public I am strong enough to keep a low profile and still be MISGABER, oh was I wrong! it helped me for a short time but not a long term solution! I reached 83 days once and then like 28 days but yesterday IO had a big blow!

So after consulting with my dear GYE friends I decided to go public and start counting my 90 days openly and hopefully with the koach harabim I will make it to 120 Years!

thanking you in advance for helping me be MISGABER.

I don't know which Beis Medrash you frequent, I would love to join it though, because the one I go to now doesn't look anything like this!!

Getting married is the best thing since sliced bread, cuz even if the bread isn't sliced, at least you have a wife to slice it.

I cant recall coming up to post feeling sooooo down, sad, annoyed or angry.

Neither do I recall coming on to post without knowing what I'm about to write.

Last but not least never in the past has this happened to me that while I am posting my eyes are getting watery, yes I am really crying.

What happened? whats going on?

hello everybody, I didn't forget about you guys I was just busy doing other things...

Ok, I wont let you in the dark.

As you are all aware, my story is basically posted, I had issues with lots of things, shmiras einayim, videos, fantasies and lust. But there was 1 thing that I never did which was visit a real porn site. I watched bad movies on youtube but not the real stuff.

I signed up last year after sukkus, I found this site to be very helpful. I did fall a few times over the year but none lasted more than a few hours. I would log on in the afternoon by the morning I reset my count and was up again.

I managed to stay clean for 42 days, 65 days, etc. fell for a few hours and back up again.

My last streak was for 132 days when I started my count things were difficult but as I moved on it kept on getting easier and easier bh.

Then summer came along together with a few personal challenges (which I cant put out on post). I felt that hashem was pulling me up to the next level. You made it till here now let me see you go to the next level. It was very hard I managed, with the generous help of many fellow members to hold on strong for a long time.

But that didn't last forever, some time like month ago I started slipping away, the slip turned into a fall. I tried getting back up, but this time it just wasn't going to happen I tried and failed. tried again and failed again, I wasn't seeing any progress. 10 days ago I got a grip of myself and managed to stay clean for a full week, WOW!

Then came my big blow towards the end of the week my urges came back stronger than ever before. To make a long story short Wednesday afternoon I found myself sitting on a REAL porn site for 3 hours straight (didn't even pickup my phone) and Thursday morning the same thing repeated it self for another 3 hours!

Thursday afternoon I toke my laptop in to TAG to put a filter.

What should I say? I haven't had a calm second since, I cant get it to exit my mind! I feel detached, I feel worthless, I made Kiddush Friday night. I held my becher in my hand and felt like what are you doing here? what do you have with such holy things?

I cant recall sleeping as many hours in 1 shabos as I did this week. Neither do I recall feeling so detached a week before Rosh hashona.

RELAX RELAX chaver!!!!

my heart goes out to you seeing the pain your going through. but as dms1234 would say breath deeply in and out....ahhhhhhhhhh ??? ? ??? ? !!!!!

take it easy....

You mentioned in a earlier post that your thread looks like a beis hamedrash. i think you should apply for the rov/rabbi/rebbe position. not just on your thread but for the site in general. you watched 6 hours of real p. oy vey!!! i think you deserve the position. what does the oilam say?

i vote for misgaber!!!!

you are being much to tough with yourself (imho).

your doing great and already back to yourself.

if you would be right i guess i could totally give up on everything in yiddishkeit.

but once again its the yh talking through a frum costume. give it up and that will be your greatest hachanah for rosh hashanah.

B'SIMCHA and SASSON!!!!
