

another day

Posted by ewards - 25 Jun 2014 20:15

On they way to 90 days again I told a friend at church this morning about my struggle (i have a few guys i talk to) and that was yesterday and that seemed to give me strength for today . This whole journey is very interesting . I am not big about getting down on my self. Just want to do better . LOL have only achieved 15 days clean I keep trying would settle for more control over my lust and acting out . Is that a bad way to feel

Wouldn't stopping all together feel even better? Go for the gold. no one tries to get a bronze medal. actually maybe they do, but the ones that actually get the bronze were trying for gold.

a side note here . SOoo this day it is only 700am has some challenges but I know that lust etc good side a short streak for me tired of it already I think ~~won't change that~~ : I have been reading posts and replies for a hour at least .

Hmm i think I am more equipped to go in to this aggravating day .

Wish every one victory on this day (its over for most of you) how about victory for tonite and

Don't feel down mate, just try to keep it up, dont let lust tell you who you are, you are what the Almighty says you are...and don't forget you are not alone, we are all in the same struggle
