

Jwtrplet3s Ups and Downs

Posted by jwtrplet3 - 14 Aug 2014 00:51

Hey! I posted my story on the SSA forum but I recently started the 90-day journey and I am at 30 days.

My fetish was starting to control my life so I wanted to try to stop, both putting on things and searching online. Its hard because this stuff is rampant daily and its hard to keep my eyes to myself. I stayed on GYE daily and chatted excessively to help my goal and keep myself occupied. However, this led to my downfall because my chats became a little too graphic when I explained my tayvah leading me to get kicked off gye chatroom. It was hard for me to deal with feeling alone and tried to reach out to others on gmail. However, one guy I reached out to, who seemed very helpful, just helped feed both our tayvos with chat and we had to block each other in the end of the day since our tayvos were rising.

I have BH not put anything on (except with my wife with tashmish) and have pretty much not searched (once or twice I got onto a website but quickly turned it off).

=====
=====