

Time to quit

Posted by aftal123 - 10 Oct 2014 06:43

---

I became addicted to pornography at 11. I even saw some illegal websites. At 15 i quit for four years. At 19 I started again, and this has plagued me for 8 years. It's time for me to get a hold of myself and stop. I need hashems help for many things as my life has crumbled. May he help me during these 90 days.

First of all, welcome and KOP.

There is something important to say, when I started there were things happening in my life as well. They didn't get better even after I was clean almost 400 days. What did change was the way I thought about, and reacted to them. So even if they things don't get better, just remember "There's nothing that a little lust can't make worse".
