My Quest - The Beginning Posted by moshereuven - 15 Jan 2015 20:54

Today is the second day of my 90 days. I'm not sure where this will take me, but I know that I can't live this way any longer. I've done many bad things, upsetting things, things that I would never think I would do. Let's say I've paid for things, many times, that I should not have.

For the last couple of days my newborn son has been very ill. And I believe it's a sign from Hashem to tell me to change my ways. I'm afraid, but I know that all things are true through Hashem and that He will show me the way.

Hi Moshe,

I just want to thank you for posting its agreat Chizzuk to read and it gives me tremendous strength.

I would like to comment on your observations of the other people at the dinner. Part of what I learned since joining GYE is the amount of people that are struggling internally and hiding their issues. People like me. And some of us on the outside may seem successful. But we all have demons that show up when nobody is looking and we take off the mask (Purim metaphor, sorry).

You seem like a good dad and you're honest with your struggles which is an accomplishment that others should be jealous of.

hi moshe

the way you look at these mystery things that happened to you, is amazing

maybe thats exactly what hashem wants, to see if we will let ourselves get crushed

keep strong, it will all pass

But then I told myself that those negative thoughts are just the YH trying to get me negative so that I will act out again. The truth is things ARE getting better. The truth is I am feeling better and moving in the right direction. And I shouldn't let dumb, negative thoughts convince me otherwise. I might not be where I want to be, but I'm moving, I'm getting there.

Keep On Trucking my friend , Hatzlacha !

Hello There,

64 days and counting. 64 days and I have not checked out any sites that I used to frequent. No sex with other women for almost 2 months.

But I'm starting to find myself fading a little bit. I still don't have the money to do these things, but I need Hashem's help now more than ever to stay strong. I just feel this well of energy building up inside me and I've been rejected many times by Mrs which makes the situation worse.

I'm holding on but as it gets warmer outside things are getting harder for me. I know we have all been there before. Hopefully Hashem can will help me and keep me strong from the long road ahead. Thank you Hashem for my healing. I really need you now.

MAZAL TOV on your progress!

Remind me what you are doing to foster a positive sobriety. Are you in any type of group, doing stepwork, opening up to a real person... I don't remember.

Damn, so bad I didn't discover this amazing thread before ..!!

I don't know if you can imagine the 'hizuk you are giving here, and the most impressive thing is that you're not giving 'hizuk with words only, but mostly with you great actions !!

I don't know so much thing but you've got to know that we are here with you and we believe in you !! Go on this way and please let us know how things are going, your story is very inspiring !!!
