

my arrival story!

Posted by levite - 25 Oct 2009 13:59

i was thinking of calling it my jourbey but hey thr journey is all about arriving each day each minute ia another arrival!

=====

=====

Re: my arrival story!

Posted by levite - 04 Jan 2010 23:45

dov waht i actually asked is g-d to be my parner not the other way get me?

=====

=====

Re: my arrival story!

Posted by Dov - 05 Jan 2010 13:47

I don't see the difference, really.

You can't do this dance alone with Him - the solution is being alone with Him, but I could not get there in reality, without merging with other people. Human beings.

Are you hearing me?

You may be confusing the goal with the means.

...I have kvetched enough.

ILY.

I'm done.

=====

=====

Re: my arrival story!

Posted by Momo - 05 Jan 2010 13:51

Levite,

It's the war you're trying to win. Even the best generals lost a battle here and there.

Learn from the fall for next time. What caused it? What can you do so that it doesn't happen again? (You don't have to answer this here, but ask yourself this.)

Keep on trucking!

=====

Re: my arrival story!

Posted by the.guard - 05 Jan 2010 18:58

Levite, your soul's holiness is blinding...

Listen to the great bear on this site (Dov), he is humbler, more experienced and wiser than us all...

=====

Re: my arrival story!

Posted by silentbattle - 06 Jan 2010 00:43

Reb Levite - Hashem isn't leaving you, and neither are we!

I think that part of what Reb dov is saying is that as real as Hashem is, we have trouble seeing him as real - that's why we're able to do things in the privacy of our own rooms that we'd never do in the middle of the street.

So, for an accountability partner, we need a human being that we, (for better or worse), feel as being more tangible.

=====

Re: my arrival story!

Posted by Eye.nonymous - 14 Jan 2010 13:11

I was just catching up a bit on this thread.

Regarding whether we need to support the whole approach from p'sukim and chazal.

What about, "If you hear that the goyim have wisdom, you may believe it!"? This is also from Chazal.

If it works, it works.

Do you need to track a microwave oven back to a gemorra before you will use it to heat up some food?

=====

Re: my arrival story!

Posted by Dov - 14 Jan 2010 18:02

Gevalt. What's going on here? Now GYE will never have a normal leining - we need our levite back!

=====

Posted by silentbattle - 15 Jan 2010 17:33

=====

=====

Posted by imtrying25 - 29 Jan 2010 11:07

LEVITE!!!!!!

=====

=====

Posted by levite - 29 Jan 2010 14:05

=====

=====

Re: my arrival story!

Posted by silentbattle - 29 Jan 2010 16:08

:'(

I'm going to miss your hugs. and everything else that you used to write, too. I hope that you've spoken this over with a rebbe or rav before leaving, but no matter what - I hope you have the success and growth that you're looking for.

And you're always welcome, anytime!

have a great shabbos!

=====

Re: my arrival story!

Posted by imtrying25 - 30 Jan 2010 21:06

A gutte voch! I fully respect your decision. Only you know what's best for you!

please take my email address and feel free to contact me whenever you feel!

imtrying25@gmail.com

Hatzlacha!

=====

Re: my arrival story!

Posted by silentbattle - 31 Jan 2010 06:57

And I believe my email address is in my profile.

=====
=====

Re: my arrival story!

Posted by levite - 13 Jun 2010 22:15

wow what a long time,

six months to be precise, six months of standing in the side and peeking in, six months of debate, but finally desperation has got me back here.

The reason i left gye was i wanted to start anew and i felt that being bombarded with even the anti-p was making me fall again, so i left, i travelled to uman, that gave me a boost till about 80days then white knuckled till 95 and bam bam, iv not been this bad since 6 years ago i have filters accountability progs, i just circumnavigate in some way, tried all but smashing the pc, which knowing me wont work anyway, (il just go to a net cafe), i feel as if im schizo, with this uncontrollable monster in me, i wont give in , but this fight is leeching my very last strengths, im weakened emotionally and even physically, most guys are gonna tell me keep on fighting but i cant anymore, im not suicidal but i sure can understand it now, whats the future?

Ok, so maybe i should go to a shrink, maybe, but personally being a kinda shrink myself i dont think it will work, 2. i dont think i can open up to frum guy being frum myself 3. i dont think i can afford it, maybe i should go for the sa thingy, i dunno i tries and just didnt feel comfortable, again i feel that confronting it all the time will bring it on,

im writing this just because im at my wits end and feel im going under, if there is anyone who thinks they can help please do

=====
=====