

my arrival story!

Posted by levite - 25 Oct 2009 13:59

i was thinking of calling it my jourbey but hey thr journey is all about arriving each day each minute ia another arrival!

=====
=====

Re: my arrival story!

Posted by Dov - 08 Nov 2009 20:57

Levite - Congrats! So, friends are indispensable! Have a nice rest of your clean day.

Guard - I do not have the luxury of basking in dejectedness or sadness. I get involved in whatever I am supposed to be doing, de-isolate, make a call to a program friend or my sponsor, and talk to my G-d a lot more - and calmly. I do not expect miracles, but they really tend to occur and I discover by the time i go to sleep that I snapped out of my self-pity attack a few hours before, but was not paying attention!

Oh, and assessing my mood just to keep tabs on it ("am I really happy?") is another childish habit I cannot afford any more, so I gave it up slowly and with the help of others over about 2 years of work (at the ripe age of about 45! Waaa!!!!). I don't do it now. My life is much better without "my help", thank-you, I do not need to assess or guide my moods any more.

=====
=====

Re: my arrival story!

Posted by levite - 08 Nov 2009 21:25

thanx dov. im being feeling better gave it a bit of thought i need real help from the one above real help im a wreck! after thinking all that i wasnt in the best mood so i went into a wedding and danced so im in a better mood!

=====
=====

Re: my arrival story!

Posted by the.guard - 08 Nov 2009 21:33

That's great, levite. We all get a little kookoo from time to time... If we can do as Dov says, try to get back into what we are supposed to be doing, back into life, a little walk, some dancing by a wedding, etc.. We will quickly forget our craziness...

Dov, thanks for sharing. That's exactly what I wanted to hear :D

(at the ripe age of about 45! Waaa!!!!)

BTW, I dreamt last night that I met a bunch of the GYE Chevra, and you, Dov, were sitting there in the corner on the couch, very quietly... And I came over and gave you a HUG... Funny thing is, you looked very old in the dream, like about 65-70... And I remember thinking that I had thought you were only about 45,... funny you mentioned that here.

So how old are you, Mr.Wise old turtle? :D Let me guess, 50 going on 5?

=====

=====

Re: my arrival story!

Posted by levite - 09 Nov 2009 13:54

thanx guys for bailing me out

=====

=====

Re: my arrival story!

Posted by Dov - 10 Nov 2009 23:31

Levite, you deserve all the bailing out in the world! Just ask bardichever, he'll tell you! No, better yet - ask Hashem! You are such a precious yid!

Reb Guard - sorry, My Mom taught me to never, ever, share my age...it's the only thing she told

=====

Re: my arrival story!

Posted by the.guard - 11 Nov 2009 14:47

me to do that I actually listen to!
Reb Guard - sorry, My Mom taught me to never, ever, share my age...it's the only thing she told me to do that I actually listen to!

Oh well, I guess I'll just have to trust my "dream" then :D

Funny thing is, you looked very old in the dream, like about 65-70

=====

Re: my arrival story!

Posted by levite - 11 Nov 2009 18:13

ta v much dov! 18 days of life, atah toimech gorali thank you hashem for telling me what is right and wrong and bot only telling me that i should choose life but actually liftingmy hand and helping me pick!

=====

Re: my arrival story!

Posted by levite - 12 Nov 2009 12:00

thw baal haikrim asks why a person is blamed for doing averos if the gemora says 'ain odom choteh ele im kein nicnas bo ruach shtus'(a man does not do an averah unless a spirit of foolishness enters him) - we know that a shoteh(insane person) is patur on mitzvos, so why is the person who does an averah chayav?

He answers that it really is so he will not get punishment for the aveiroh but for what he did after the aveiroh, did he do teshuvah when the ruach shtus went out? did he say sorry? If he didnt doesnt thhat shows that he isnt upset and that part of the rael him really wanted it!

=====

=====

Re: my arrival story!

Posted by imtrying25 - 12 Nov 2009 13:32

Some answer that the person is punished for what he did the brought on the ruach shtus. Which in effect caused him to do the aveirah. The holy Mashgiach of Mir R Yeruchem Levovitz has a piece on this point. Begining of Parshas Devarim on the words Di Zahav.

=====

=====

Re: my arrival story!

Posted by levite - 12 Nov 2009 20:06

il try n look it u, id appreciate if you'd post it here had a slip guys quite serious but a alip i managed to stop and i didnt get pulled away so im still with you. i just went from a kosher wwbsite into one that defo was shmutz and couldnt keep back from pressing the link but after a few secs i was back in kedusha. in lechovitch there is a vort. a fight is a slap against a slap. the winner is the one that gives the last one!

=====

=====

Re: my arrival story!

Posted by levite - 13 Nov 2009 01:14

ki nososani vatashlicheni, ribonoi shel oilam u picked me up when only you could, and you put done like only you could. i fell father in heaven i fell. im sorry tatte zisse im sorry and although i said sorry last time its for real this time. Ribonoi shel oilam i am not giving up on you ever!
please take me back for i have nowhere else to go.

and to the yh huh, vatschak leyoim achroin, he who laughs last laughs longest all you did was make more steadfast to go through with this again day 1 of my arriva!! and this tym im doing it for real

=====

Re: my arrival story!

Posted by levite - 13 Nov 2009 01:18

i cant update my chart

=====

Re: my arrival story!

Posted by levite - 15 Nov 2009 19:27

hi im on day two well its almost day three, what im finding this time is tah its much harder i feel as if im white knuckling it compared to last time and i dont no y? i feel as if this will make me give up.

=====

Re: my arrival story!

Posted by imtrying25 - 15 Nov 2009 22:12

DONT YOU DARE GIVE UP LEVITE. Its the rough times that make us men. More importantly realize that your in the techilaso kotzim right now and it wont be long before youll be in the sofo meishor.

=====